HITLER OUSTS DR. SCHACHT AS BANK'S HEAD

Veteran Financial Wizard Out as Dictator Acts to Expand Nazi Party Control.

REFUGEE STUDY ENDED

Negotiations on Jews Collapse Soon After Chancellor Puts Schacht 'on Shelf.'

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—Chancellor Hitler today removed Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, veteran financial wizard from the presidency of Germany's reichsbank in a sudden stroke followed swiftly by the breakdown of negotiation for the removal of several hundred thousand Jews from Germany.

Dr. Schacht

George Rublee, American head of the intergovernmental refugee committee, who had been conferring here with Schacht on the Jewish transfer problem since Jan. 10, was notified officially that the discussions would not continue.

Rupture of the refugee committee's attempt to secure Nazi co-operation for Jewish emigration plans was the first major result of Hitler's abrupt replacement of Schacht by rotund Walther Funk, minister of economics.

Put Under Nazi Control.

By this change the reichsfuehrer thrust the great reichsbank, which under Schacht had retained comparative independence, more completely under control of the Nazi party.

German officials denied that there was any connection between the shelving of the high-collared money wizard and his efforts to solve the problem of Germany's 700,000 Jews through the Rublee committee.

Schacht was considered shelved although Hitler retained him in the cabinet without portfolio but subject to assignment to "special duties."

Rublee, who had planned to leave Berlin tomorrow after signing a document embracing Schacht's plan, now is expected to ask the German government through the United States and British embassies whether the negotiatoins can be resumed on some other basis or with some other representative.

Blasts at U. S.

Funk, the Nazi regime's No. 1 barter salesman, only today published a blast at the United States, asserting Germany would buy from the Balkans and Turkey the goods she used to from America.

It was generally regarded in informed circles as Germany's answer to President Roosevelt's congressional message attacking Nazi and Fascist policies.

"During the first ten months of the year—1938—Germany imported goods worth almost 5,000,000,000 marks ($2,000,000,000)," Funk wrote.

SOUTH PROTESTS SCARLETT ROLE

Threatens Boycott of Film if English Actress Plays It.

OCALA, Fla.—(U.P.)—The Ocala chapter of United Daughters of the Confederacy today threatened to boycott the film "Gone With the Wind" when it gets here unless a southern lass is chosen to play the part of Scarlett O'Hara.

Protesting the selection of Vivian Leigh, an English actress, as Scarlett, the UDC resolved:

"We protest against any other than a native-born southern woman playing the part of Scarlett O'Hara in 'Gone With the Wind.' Further, we resolve to withhold our patronage if otherwise cast."

TRAIN KILLS FARMER, 70

GREENVILLE — (INS)— Funeral arrangements were made today for Henry Sheets, 70-year-old farmer, of nearby Rossburg, who was killed by a Pennsylvania railroad passenger train near Greenville.

Every Dog Has His Day—

so it seems. The current mode is giving all the breaks to Scottles, Terriers, Spaniels and the like while good old faithful Collies, Bulldogs and Airedales are forced to sit back and wait for a sudden return to popular favor. Even Milady has turned thumbs down on lappy dogs and is going in for the larger, more showy models. Yes sir, every dog does have his day—but if he's patient, he'll stage a come back.

KILLED AT WORK

Millersburg Man Struck by Falling Power Pole.

MILLERSBURG—Galen Klotz, 35, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon near Stone Creek when a power pole fell on him.

Klotz, son of Albert Klotz of this city, was on his second day's work for the Jacobs Electric company of Coshocton, on a Rural Electrification project, when the tragedy occurred.

He was holding a pole which was being lowered into a hole, when the pole slipped and fell on his head. The body was removed to the Elliot funeral home where it was found that a rupture at the base of the brain was the immediate cause of death.

He is survived by his wife, Nettie, a son, Norman, his father, and his mother who resides at Fremont.

Funderal services were incomplete today.

POLICE QUIZ SET FOR TOMORROW

Mayor Ready to Call in Bates and Ask Explanation of Annual Report.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter and Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist will delve into the activities of the police department tomorrow morning when Police Chief Meade K. Bates goes before them to explain his annual report which was presented to the mayor early this week.

The mayor said today that an explanation of the report, which showed what he described as "apparent laxity" in the department, would be sought from the chief.

He added that he expected to "go over" the 1938 and 1937 reports with Nist this afternoon in order to make a comparison before calling in Bates.

Hunter has indicated that the chief item of interest in the report and the one which he will seek an explanation concerns the 40 per cent slump in traffic arrests last year.

GETS NEW GAVEL

House Speaker Gets Token From Knox Lawmaker, Father.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— House Speaker William M. McCulloch got a new gavel today—a token of appreciation from the house's only father and son combination.

The gavel, made of Ohio woods, was presented by Reps. George H. Kirkpatrick of Knox county, the father, Graham Kirkpatrick of Licking county, the son. Both are Republicans.

DEVELOP NEW WAY TO ALLOT RELIEF MONEY

Legislative Leaders Would Let Cities Use Other Funds for Matching State Loans.

WOULD HELP, SAYS KELLEY

See Plan to Divert Intangible Receipts to Relief Fund as 'Best Solution.'

Special enabling bills were being considered by Republican legislative leaders in Columbus today to help cities raise funds to match state grants for direct relief, and some of them were seen by City Auditor Paul L. Kelley as a possible solution to Mansfield's 1939 relief problem.

Although Gov. John W. Bricker indicated yesterday he would be willing to abandon the matching principle in the relief bill, members of the legislature opposed elimininating that provision, and sought to make previously earmarked tax revenue available to cities and counties for relief purposes, which could be used to match state loans.

Administration forces in Columbus were prepared to go into high gear when the house and senate return next Monday in an effort to speed development of a relief program including enactment of the $5,000,000 temporary bill.

Offer Three Bills.

In reply to local government officials' protests that they had no money with which to match, the administration submitted the enabling bills, three of which were introduced in the house, and are designed to remove restrictions on the use of local funds and increase the city's general funds so that they might be used in part for relief.

The three measures ready for action would:

1. Place a city's inheritance tax money in the general fund instead of pledging it for bond and sinking fund requirements.

2. Divert a city's full share of intangible tax receipts into the general fund instead of just a portion of it.

3. Permit easier transfers of money from one city fund to another and allow use of special fees and excise tax allocations for relief purposes.

A fourth bill, to be introduced in the senate next week, would permit the use of automobile registration fees for traffic enforcement costs, thus relieving the city's general fund of this burden.

Helpful, Says Kelley.

Kelley said that the proposed

DRIVER INDICTED

Richland Man Held in Ashland in Father's Death.

Indicted by the Ashland county grand jury on a manslaughter charge involving the death of his aged father in a traffic accident Dec. 13, Charles E. Stoops, 53, was arrested at his home west of Mansfield late yesterday and taken to Ashland for arraignment.

Stoops, driver of a car in which his father, William A. Stoops, 77, was killed near Mifflin, was taken into custody about 5:30 p. m. yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Glenn Freeman of Richland county and an Ashland county deputy.

He was indicted secretly by the Ashland county grand jury which accused him of negligence in permitting his car to swerve off route 30 just west of Mifflin and turn over in a ditch. His father suffered a fractured neck in the crash and died almost instantly.

The accident was investigated by state highway patrolmen from Mansfield.

100 Today, Richland Pioneer Started Life on Black Coffee

Centenarian's Birthday 'Gift' Is Great-Great-Granddaughter.

By JANE WILLIAMS

SHE IS 100 years old today. In her face are the wrinkles of a century; her laugh is like the crackle of dry, old parchment. And like Gran, the centenarian matriarch of "Whiteoaks of Jalna," she lives in a house almost as old as herself and is the central point around which gravitates a family of four generations under one roof. But without Gran's imperiousness and deviltry.

Mary Sackman Beasore was born near Lucas, a mile and a half from where she now lives in the old Beasore homestead, on Jan. 20, 1839. She was born when Martin Van Buren was president of the United States, and 10 years before the gold rush to California.

"But we didn't entirely escape it," she says with a chuckle. "When I was five months old, my father, Henry Sackman, bundled his family into a covered wagon and started for Missouri. Sakes alive! My mother used to tell me about that trip. All through Illinois there was no milk to be had that summer in '39 and so they just fed me black coffee. Yes sir, nothing but black coffee for two weeks.

"Father's dream of wealth in Missouri didn't turn out. We lived in a log cabin there for 'most six years, and day in and day out we had corn bread and wild honey, or just mush and milk. Come Saturday and father would say: 'Mother, I can't stand corn bread another meal—let's have wheat biscuits.' My, what a feast that was! Biscuits baked in a skillet over the coals and soaked in sweet-water from the maple trees."

The Sackmans, disillusioned, came back to Ohio, floating down the Missouri river and the Ohio on a flat-boat which the father had built and which was drawn by a mule. They abandoned the boat at Portsmouth and came back to Lucas by canal boat and by wagon.

Mary was six years old then and she remembers her first glimpse of the house in which she now lives. It had been erected by Daniel Beasore (who came into Richland county in 1828) sometime in the early 1840's and probably was the first frame house in the Lucas district. It was the home of young George Beasore who was to be Mary's future husband.

"I've got a good memory," she said in her thin, high voice, "even if I can't hear nor see so very

Jackie's Fault, Not Mine, Betty Says of Split-Up

'Silly Talk!' Coogan's Actress Wife Declares of Charges She Left Because His Money Was Gone.

(By Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD—Actress Betty Grable took time out today from her business of looking fetching (and very) to deny that her separation from Jackie Coogan was her idea and to cite him for several little "errors."

In the first place, she said with emphasis, "Jackie suggested the separation 'until we get things ironed out.' I didn't. I'd go back to him in a minute—if he'd ask me."

People have been saying, Betty declared, that she left Jack because he didn't have any money and that she wouldn't live with him until (and if) he gets the money he believes his mother and stepfather, Arthur Bernstein owe him. Jackie is suing the Bernsteins for an accounting of the fortune he earned as a child star.

All 'Silly Talk.'

"Such silly talk!" exclaimed Betty. "The lease expired on our house. I thought we ought to move to a smaller place, or live with my mother. The first thing I knew, Jackie was selling the furniture. Boom! And all my stuff was moved out. Then he said he was going to San Francisco to see about an act. But he didn't ask me to go with him.

"I don't understand why Jackie hasn't said something to defend me. I still love him and he knows

Two Men Fatally Burned, 40 Flee Flint Hotel Blaze.

FLINT, Mich.—(AP)—Two men died today in a fire that damaged the three-story Lincoln hotel, patronized principally by workingmen. Forty other occupants, including 10 women, escaped.

The victims were James A. McConnell, 91, a resident, and Walters Mathers, 69, a caretaker. Both occupied quarters in the basement, where the fire started.

BR-R-R, 3 ABOVE

Believe It or Not, Mercury Hit New Low Last Night.

The coldest weather of the season dropped the temperature to three degrees above zero in Mansfild last night, but the cold left as suddenly as it came.

By noon today the mercury had climbed to the freezing mark, and the weatherman predicted warmer tonight and Saturday. Cloudy skies will clear by Saturday, the forecast said.

Last night's reading was one degree below the previous low of four above, set early in December. The three-degree reading was at midnight, Otto Sprunger, official observer, said.

In setting the record low, the mercury fell 25 degrees from a high of 28 yesterday afternoon.

LOYALIST FIRE PERILS FRANCO

BULLETIN

SARAGOSSA, Spain—(INS)—The imminent fall of Barcelona was indicated today in an official statement by Insurgent headquarters here. Stating that the "liberation" of the Catalonian capital could soon be expected, the announcement asked all provincial authorities to rush truckloads of foodstuffs for relief of the city's population.

(By United Press)

PERPIGNAN, France—A radio broadcast from Burgos today reported that Rebel Generalissimo Francisco Franco narrowly escaped death when his airplane was caught in a blast of anti-aircraft fire over the suburbs of Barcelonia.

The broadcast from the Falangist (Nationalistic Spanish organization) radio station at the Insurgent capital said that Franco flew over the principal sectors on the Catalan front on Wednesday.

His airplane was one craft in a rebel squadron which surveyed the Insurgent and Loyalist positions in a flight that carried them over part of the Barcelona suburbs, the radio reported.

Anti-aircraft guns opened up when the squadron was over the Barcelona suburbs, shooting down one plane.

The radio reported that the airplane in which Franco was riding "narrowly escaped being hit" in the barrage fired from the Loyalist capital, which is the main ob-

HOPES TO SAVE $10,000 THIS YEAR BY MOVE

Cost of Maintenance Division's Operations in 1938 Were $7,000 Over Budget.

18 LAID OFF RECENTLY

Engineer Says Drop in Funds From State Necessitated Economy Steps.

Nearly 60 maintenance employes in the county's road department will be placed on a half-time basis immediately in a move to save $10,000 in operation of the department this year, county commissioners said today.

Commissioners ordered the cut following a conference late yesterday with County Engineer Howard C. Sword and Clyde Moore, maintenance superintendent, during which it was revealed that the maintenance division's operating costs in 1938 were approximately $7,000 above the budget and totalled $83,000.

On 35-Hour Week Schedule.

Sword disclosed today that 18 men were laid off recently in the department, but he added that the remaining 60 probably would be kept on the payroll, with half of them working a week and then the other half for a week. Employes will be on a 35-hour week schedule.

Principal cause for the economy move, Sword asserted, was a $10,000 drop in the amount of auto license fees the county collected from the state last year for road purposes.

"We are $10,000 behind our anticipated collection of state fees and the county can do nothing to make up the difference," the engineer said.

$210,000 From State.

The county's share of state funds in 1938 totalled approximately $210,000 which made up the major part of the road construction and maintenance fund.

Although Sword said there was only a slight increase in the number of maintenance department workers last year, he pointed out that the employes worked more hours because of the county's participation in a huge WPA road and bridge program.

"With county trucks used on most of the projects, we had to employ men to operate them," Sword said.

While the reduced work schedule is expected to handicap road maintenance activities, the engineer asserted that the maintenance staff is usually reduced in the winter, except when heavy snow makes it necessary to put plows on roads.

NEW DIVISION

Shaffer Sees Two Counties Combined in Highway Shift.

Establishment of a new state highway division to include Richland and Crawford counties was forecast today by Murray D. Shaffer, Ashland division engineer.

Shaffer, who will appoint an engineer to succeed Boyd W. Wierman, resident engineer in Richland county, who was dismissed yesterday, said formation of the new division would be in line with the economy plan of State Highway Director Robert S. Beightler. The state director proposed to abolish county resident engineers' jobs and increase the divisions.

Shaffer said he was considering several applicants for the new division post, and probably would name a Richland county man within a few days.

Joseph D. Dune, timekeeper in the engineer's office here, will be in charge after Wierman leaves the office next Wednesday, Shaffer pointed out.

Senate Ends Debate On Hopkins Today; Confirmation Vote Due

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The senate may vote today on the nomination of Harry L. Hopkins to be secretary of commerce after the most bitter debate since congress convened.

Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, D., Ky., predicted that the attack on the president's cabinet nominee would end late today to permit the senate to vote on confirmation. He was confident, along with other administration leaders, that Hopkins would win easy approval despite the daylong criticism to which the former relief administrator was subjected yesterday.

But before the new cabinet member gains approval of the senate, he faced a renewal of attacks by Republicans and anti-New Deal Democrats on his honesty as a public official and of his fitness for his new position.

Sen. Rush D. Holt, D., W. Va., was ready to resume his one-man "filibuster" against the New Dealer with charges that the administration adjusted relief rolls to fit campaign needs.

Sens. Wallace White, R., Me., Hiram Johnson, R., Calif.; H. Styles Bridges, R., N. H.; and Chairman Morris Sheppard, D., Tex., of the senate campaign expenditures committee which investigated alleged misuse of relief funds in Democratic primaries, also were prepared to speak.

Martin Suspends Auto Union's Board Members, Seizes Records

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT—Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, announced the suspension of a majority of the 24-man international executive board today shortly after he and a group of followers had removed records and filing cases from the international offices.

Martin said he would have control of the handful of board members remaining. He did not say immediately how many of the members he had suspended, nor whom they were.

He made the announcement at his hotel suite, to which he removed the records taken from the international offices.

Martin's action came suddenly after the UAW executive board, in session here for the last 10 days, had stripped him of much of his authority as union head and had arranged for a special convention of the organization that both Martin and the board members said would settle "once and for all," months-old factional strife within the union.

Martin had charged communistic influences on the board membership; the board had accused him of "assuming power not granted by the union's constitution."

"The Perfect Mother" was the subject of the paper presented by Mrs. Weldon Close yesterday at the meeting of Circle Six when Mrs. Harold Mansfield, Sturges avenue, entertained 27 members and one guest. Mrs. John Kindel, Mrs. Lewis Wissenger and Mrs. Harold Gorsuch assisted. A routine business meeting was conducted, and the hostess served refreshments. The next meeting will be a covered-dish dinner with Mrs. Ida Mae Palmer.

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

THIS week-end will be an exiciting one for several members of the Mansfield chapter of Delta Theta Tau sorority. . . . Esther Dunham, Harriet Roth (official delegate), Teddy Reed, Doris Mann, Lee Heim, Mary Cox, Alvina Wappner and Maxine Jones (local chapter prexy) are all going down to Cincinnati for the sorority's province convention tomorrow and Sunday. Esther is a province officer . . . and she'll have charge of all convention business sessions. . . . She went down today and said she was pretty nervous about the whole thing. The province convention was in Mansfield last winter. . . . It includes girls from five states in this district. . . . The local gals will be back in time to give a report of convention happenings to the other members at a meeting Monday evening.

Charles McConkie is busy getting himself established in Jamestown, N. Y., these days, where he's gone to manage a clothing store. . . . His wife, Marguerite, and their two sons will join him in the eastern city within the next few weeks.

HERE'S some welcome news for all the Mansfield friends of Connie (Keene) and James Carse. . . . They're moving back to our city this very week! Jim and Connie have been living in Butler for the past few years . . . but from now on their address will be 104 Sherman avenue—right across the street from Connie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Keene. . . . And their two young sons, James, jr., and David, and infant daughter, Eleanor Louise, will probably spend many a happy hour over at Grandma's house.

Sunday will mark the opening day of the indoor riding season for members of Raemelton Riding club in the arena at Raemelton farms. . . . There will be a polo game and some indoor riding events that afternoon . . . with tea afterwards . . . when Mrs. Glenn Vinson will preside at the table. This will be the first in a series of these Sunday afternoon functions.

A trip west always means that there are plenty of thrills in the offing . . . and if it happens to be an initial trip west . . . the prospect is more exciting than ever. . . . That's the reason Georgann and Bob Springer can hardly wait until the sixth of February . . . when they're leaving for Ft. Sill, Okla. Bob's a first lieutenant in Battery D, 134th Infantry of the National Guard . . . so he's going out to the field artillery school at Ft. Sill for training. Their young son, Rounie, is going with Georgann and Bob, and they plan to be gone for three months.

BEAMING was the word for Florence Robison (art supervisor in the public schools) when she left the postoffice yesterday afternoon about 4:30 . . . and she certainly had every reason for her great joy. Florence has been working on her master's degree at Columbia university for the past four summers—and she received her reward yesterday when her diploma, bearing an M. A. degree in fine arts and fine art education, arrived.

When the Mansfield Girl Scout advisors meet once a month in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Eleanor Bond (Girl Scout director in this vicinity) teaches them games—which they in turn relay to the girls in their troops. The game they learned this week was all about a bear and some honey—and it involved much dancing and prancing about. . . . The advisors were really enjoying themselves too—that is until they had finished the game—and Eleanor told them that several guests at the Mansfield-Leland hotel had been having a fine time watching the performance from across the street!

FROM MY NOTEBOOK: Martha Fichter is very fond of automobile rides these days . . . and her reason is a good one . . . because her friend, George Bender, has a smart new fawn-colored coupe. . . . They're really having a happy time in the John Angle household on Vennum avenue this week. . . . Paul's home from Springfield, Ill., for several days. . . . Betty and her husband, Frank Fox, are there now too—so it's at least a partial family reunion.

WIN AT CARDS.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Stuff were the prize winners in five hundred last night when Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Heston, Lucas road, entertained members of the Shamrock club. After the serving of luncheon, it was announced that Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Darling, 57 South Main street, will entertain Feb. 2.

41 ATTEND.

There were 41 members of the St. Peter's Sewing circle present at the home of Mrs. R. E. Imhoff, 580 Woodhill road, yesterday for an all-day meeting and luncheon. Mrs. Verba Kanary and Mrs. A. L. Fisher were the associate hostesses.

HONOR BRIDE.

The former Miss Louise Harper, now Mrs. Louise Schuck, was honored at a miscellaneous shower at Walsh's tea room last night by a group of 16 of her friends from the Tappan Stove company. Following the dinner games and Chinese checkers were played with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Dorothy Doolittle. Miss Ellen Lape and Miss Ruth Lamberton. The winners gave their awards to the guest of honor.

TRI GAM MEMBERS HAVE ELECTION THURSDAY

Delta Chapter Entertains Three Other Units at Towne House; Miss Vivian Miller to Head Groups.

MISS VIVIAN MILLER was elected president of Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority yesterday evening when the three Mansfield chapters, Beta, Gamma and Delta, and the Ashland chapter, Epsilon, met at the Towne House. Members of the Delta chapter were hostesses for the affair, with Miss Martha Fichter as chairman.

Miss Jane Sowash, retiring president, was in charge of the business session when the officers were elected. Others, chosen to serve during the coming year, are: Miss Beverly Schwein, vice-president; Miss Eleanor Clingan, secretary; Miss Virginia Chew, corresponding secretary, and Miss Fichter, treasurer.

A buffet dessert was served at 8:30 last evening, after which the group played Chinese checkers at five tables. At the close of the games, prizes were awarded to Mrs. Madge Yochheim and Mrs. Pauline Carmoney of Ashland, and the Misses Eileen Logan, Betty Hammel and Winifred Van Derau.

Members of Epsilon chapter have invited the Mansfield chapters to Ashland for the next meeting on Feb. 16.

Plan Dinner In Honor Of Poet, Robert Burns

Plans for a dinner, honoring the memory of Robert Burns, were made yesterday when the Daughters of Scotland met at the North Lake park pavilion. This dinner will be held on Jan. 25 at 6:30 in the pavilion, and it will be open to the public.

Miss Vivian Aplin was in charge of yesterdays session, and she named Mrs. William McCartney as chairman of the program at the Robert Burns dinner. The next regular meeting of this organization will be on Feb. 3 at the pavilion.

HOSTESS TO CLUB.

Miss Norma Casey, 17 Dale avenue, was hostess yesterday to members of Sigma Gamma Chi when they held a social meeting. Luncheon was served following the affair. Miss Mary Jackson, 18 Wolfe avenue, will entertain Feb. 16.

Honor Miss Oswalt On 16th Birthday

When Mrs. K. R. Oswalt honored her daughter, Juanita, with a surprise birthday party at their home on West Fourth street last evening, the guests present were those who attended a similar affair for Miss Oswalt on her sixth birthday, ten years ago. These guests were the Misses Geraldine Fisher, Janet Gadfield, Dorothy Frick, Martha Hall, Betty Edwards, Martha and Many Denig.

The group played games and contests during the evening, and prizes were won by the Misses Fisher, Gadfield, Frick and Mary Denig. The guests presented Miss Oswalt with many gifts in honor of the day.

At the close of the evening, luncheon was served at one long table, which was centered with a large lighted birthday cake. The floral bouquets and table appointments were in pink and white.

IL DUCE URGES SONS OF ITALY TO COME HOME

Millions Living Abroad Needed to Build Empire; Promises Jobs and Prosperity.

(By United Press)

ROME—Premier Benito Mussolini has laid formal claim to some 10,000,000 Italian-born persons settled in foreign lands whom he still considers Italian subjects.

When the Duce came to power he immediately dammed the stream which annually poured hundreds of thousands of Italians into the four corners of the world. Today, after 16 years in power, Mussolini wants to change the course of that stream—he wants as many of these migrated Italians as possible to return to the homeland.

The creation of a new organ called the Permanent Commission for the Repatriation of Italians Abroad was announced in mid-November. Its function is to facilitate the return of those Italians who express a wish to come back to the land of their birth.

Fascism promises these expatriated Italians work and prosperity if they return. Mussolini never approved the idea of letting Italians go abroad. He felt that Italian genius and brawn were being turned to the advantage of foreign nations.

Empire Needs Man-Power.

Now he has gone a step further He believes the time has come for those Italians to return. There is a vast empire to develop, plenty of room in which to expand, plenty of work to do. Labor is greatly in demand and Italians abroad could easily supply it.

According to recent statistics there are 9,168,261 Italians abroad. Of this number, 7,674,583 or 83.5 per cent are in the Western Hemisphere.

North America is the favorite continent and the United States the preferred nation for Italian emigrants. There are 3,906,019 in North America and 3,755,051 in South America, (Central America 13,513). In Europe, outside of Italy, there are 1,267,841; in Africa, 188,596, in Oceania 27,567 and in Asia 9,674.

The United States leads the list of nations offering livelihood to Italian emigrants, with 3,706,000, followed by 1,839,000 in Brazil and 1,797,000 in Argentina. Canada falls in fifth place with more than 700,000. France has 962,593 Switzerland, Tunisia and Egypt follow in that order with 136,000, 97,000 and 49,200, respectively.

Divided into economic pursuits, 1,771,350 of these Italian emigrants are listed as laborers, 1,208,660 as farmers and 157,050 as professional men.

Mussolini is chiefly interested in the farmers and laborers. He has no particular need for professional men.

"All I can remember—she wanted PREMIUMS"

LOOKING FOR THE VERY FINEST CRACKER? THEN MAKE THIS EASY TEST!

We like folks to ask us: "Why should we insist on Premiums when we buy crackers?"

We'll tell you why. And you can make the test yourself.

BREAK A PREMIUM IN HALF—Hear it snap with freshness? Not like an ordinary cracker! Premium Crackers are fresher because they are rushed from nearby ovens to your grocer in National Biscuit Company's own trucks.

LOOK AT THE INSIDE—See how flaky and open it is? How tender and even textured? Extra shortening makes Premiums extra flaky. They are more thoroughly baked, too.

TASTE IT—Catch that tangy, zingly flavor? Special salting gives Premiums a zestful flavor that makes everything you serve with them more delicious.

Buy Premiums—see if you don't like them better than any cracker of the same type you've ever tasted. Order Premium Crackers from your grocer tomorrow for the week-end!

SUGGESTION OF THE WEEK! Try this tomorrow. Put a plate of Premiums on the table with each meal. Watch the family go for them!

Eagles Bow to Staters

Ashland Suffers First Defeat to Weakened Kent Club By 30 to 27 Count.

TODAY'S basketball lesson: Never count 'em out as long as five men are on the floor.

The proof: The never-say-die basketball team of Kent State university which last night knocked the previously unbeaten Ashland college five from atop the state cage ranks, 30 to 27, for the biggest upset of the season.

Averaged 50 Points.

In eight previous games, the Ashlands had averaged better than 50 points and never scored less than 41. On the other hand, the Kent Staters started like a ball of fire with five consecutive victories and then faded to lose their last four ball games.

To make matters worse, the Golden Flashes took the floor at home last night without their star forward and point-maker, Pete Gulgin of Grafton, and their star guard, Paul Hazen of Ashland.

But the Staters set up their strongest defense of the year against the Eagles, were only one point behind at the quarter, held a 17 to 11 half margin and fought on to a three-point victory Wayne Griffith from Paris, O., led the Kent scorers with eight while Harold Shaffer, center from Hartville collected seven.

Jim Richcreek, Ashland's sophomore center star, was held to six points, being topped by his teammates, Sprague and Virgil Scobey with 8 and 7, respectively.

The defeat not only marred Ashland's perfect season record but removed the Eagles from the leadership of the Ohio conference. Wooster and Capital with five victories each and Case with four now top the league. All three are unbeaten in the conference.

In another conference tilt last night, Marietta made it three out of four in league play by defeating Otterbein, 54 to 30. Center Steve Nesha netted 16 points and Roan, 14, for the winners. Spessard, a substitute guard, topped the Otterbein scorers with 11 points.

Tyger Mermen Handed Defeat

Beaten in Wooster Pool By 35 to 31 Score.

Mansfield high school swimmers won five of the seven events in a dual meet at Wooster Thursday, but bowed by a 40 to 32 score The Generals hung up the majority of their points with seconds and thirds.

The Tyger winners were Walker, 40-yard free style, Preston, 100-yard breast stroke; Bean, 100-yard back stroke, Betz, 100-yard free style, and 160-yard free style relay team.

It was Wooster's first victory and the Mansfield team's third straight setback.

The disqualification of the Mansfield team in the medley relay enabled the hosts to cinch the triumph Mansfield was disqualified when a judge claimed that a Tyger swimmer failed to touch the wall with both hands at a turn.

BARONS BREAK STREAK WITH PROTESTED GOAL

SYRACUSE—(INS)—Their losing streak snapped by a 2 to 1 victory over the Syracuse Stars, the Cleveland Barons today hoped to regain some lost ground in the International-American Hockey league race.

The Cleveland victory last night came as the result of a disputed goal by center George Patterson in the final minute of play. The Stars protested for 10 minutes that Patterson had not slammed the puck past goalie Phil Stein, but that it had entered the net through a hole in the side. Referee Coutu held firm, however, and the goal was counted as legal.

Sohioans Book Strong Quint

Ontario to Face Ashland Cagers Saturday.

A club composed of Ashland Industrial basketball league stars will invade the Ontario high hardwood Saturday night to tackle the Ontario Sohioans The Ontario outfit, which has dropped only one decision this season, will be seeking its second straight victory.

Included in the Ashland lineup are Pete Risser, erstwhile Ashland high ace, who played with the Kallmerten and Baer semi-pro football team last fall· Aldon Kirkwood, Earl Urban and Larry Wilhams all of the Industrial league.

The undefeated Ontario Ex-Hi's will attempt to register their fourth straight win in the preliminary game when they meet the Miller Dairy five of the Friendly House Senior league The Ex-Hi's last week handed the Rex Billiards of the Senior league their first defeat of the year

Satterlee Club Ties Officemen for Lead

Ringside Cafe Leads Scoring In Commercial B League With 2854 Count.

THE Commercial B league race was tightened up a bit last night at the Meder Recreation alleys. The standings today show the Office Cafe and Satterlee Restaurant clubs tied for first place, with the Ringside Cafe and Mansfield Printers only a game behind.

The Ringside keglers jumped into a tie with the Printers on the crest of a 2854 total, which won five-man scoring honors last night. Featuring a 998 score, the Ringsiders, led by Maier's 617 and Glenn Adams' 604, which included a 245, took three games from the O. P S.

The Satterlee pinsters were consistent again last night as they rung up a 2741 count to take a pair of games from the Mansfield Printers, paced by Jones' 612, while the Office Cafe, with a 2704, lost two tilts to the Mansfield Rugs. Reggie Bookman contributed a 609 to the Office Cafe's total. The Rugs blasted out a 2745 total.

Wayne Hursh of the Yuncker Sports led the individual scoring with a 637, closed with a 246, but his team dropped two games to the Burghardt Cafe. John Graf and Ray Anthony shot respective scores of 627 and 600 for the Cafe team. Carl Willis, jr., added a 606 for the Sports, who rolled a 2753. The Cafe featured a 999 game.

In the other matches, the Heilman Grocers, with McDermid's 612 high, rolled a 2704, good for two wins over the Shelby Cycles, and Met's Auto Supplies won two tilts from the Kochheiser Sports Bob Hartman had a 615 for the Shelby team.

Bresica Proves Setup for Rotund Beer Guzzler.

NEW YORK — (UP) — The beer taps were wide open and the customers stood 10 deep around the bar in Tony Galento's tavern over in Orange, N. J., early today listening to the fat man who walks like a barrel repeat over and over: "Get me dat bum Joe Louis. I'll moider him. Dey'll hold me for manslaughter."

It was a gaudy party dedicated to Tony's one-round "knockout" last night of Jorge Brescia, a "mild bull" from the Pampas. But in the minds of many who saw the fight, there was the question: "Is Galento a superman or just a phoney?" Last night's affair proved nothing.

It drew 9,087 persons and lasted exactly one minute and 41 seconds. Galento threw a couple left hooks to the stomach and Brescia winced The left flashed again and Brescia went down for no count Another left—many claimed they never even saw it—to the stomach and Brescia was on the floor, grimacing. It seemed the man was dying. The referee counted 10, and he snapped to his feet as if he'd just stepped out of a shower.

Galento was mad. He claimed Brescia quit. Brescia said he was struck a low blow that temporarily paralyzed him for 10 seconds.

Billiards Cinch Tie For Title

Register Eighth Straight Win Over Farm.

THE fast-stepping Rex Billiards cinched at least a tie for the first half championship in the Senior A league last night when they edged the Raemelton Farm quintet, 26 to 23, in a spectacular setto at the Friendly House. It was the Billiards' eighth straight win.

The only team which has a chance to tie the Billiards is the Blue Goose Sohioans, who tripped Augustine's Canfield Oils, 27 to 24, in another exciting game.

Plenty of Trouble.

The Cuemen ran into more trouble than anticipated in their tussle with the cellar Farm team. Their underrated foe grabbed a 5 to 2 lead in the first period, but the Billiards tied it up, 9-all, at the intermission.

In the third period, the Raemelton entry regained the lead to go into the final quarter holding a 17 to 15 advantage. Led by Joe Wentz, the Rex quintet spurted to go ahead and win the tight ball game. Wentz led the Billiards in scoring with 12 points.

The second place Sohioans also trailed in the first period in their games with the Canfields, but they held a 16 to 10 advantage at the half, and never trailed thereafter, although the Augustine team threatened seriously in the fourth quarter.

The Lockhart brothers, Kenny and Willard, paced the Sohioans with nine points apiece.

Win In Overtime.

In another thrilling game, Miller's Dairys whipped the Musille Cigars, 29 to 27, Jim Elliott winning the game in the overtime period with a field goal

This game developed into a nip-and-tuck affair right off the bat, with the Cigars holding the first lead. The lead switched back and forth, with the Cigars rallying to knot the count in the final period.

Bill Moritz was high for the Dairys with 18 points, while Bob Boyd and Huffman led the losers with 12 and 11 points respectively.

Sports Expect Tough Battle

Meet Elks in Feature Game on City League Card.

Fresh from their most impressive victory of the season in last week's City Class A league games, the undefeated Yuncker Sports looked forward to one of the toughest battles Monday night when they face a revamped Elks Lodge quintet in the feature tilt on the card at Senior high.

The Sports smothered the Herrick Hi-Speeds in easy fashion to register their 13th consecutive City league triumph, and hope to add the Elks to their list of victims

Pilot George Percy's Westinghouse Electric combine, which shares first place with the Sports in the second round race, meets the Hi-Speeds in the opening tussle.

Varsity Goes To New Philly

Mansfield High Faces One of Few Remaining Undefeated Clubs In State Tonight.

MANSFIELD'S schoolboy athletes will rally to the National Sports Council's war against infantile paralysis tonight when they stage a pair of basketball games on the Mansfield high planks in the absence of the Tygers.

The games at the high school will pit the junior Tygers against Union at 7 p. m., and the Sumpson junior high club against the No. 2 reserves in the second game.

An admission of only 10 cents will be charged, and the money derived from the games will supplement the fund from the President's Birthday Ball to be held Saturday.

The Tygers travel to New Philadelphia where a big task awaits them tonight. In the Quakers, they meet one of the few remaining undefeated quintets in the state.

New Philadelphia has won 10 straight ball games, a record unmatched in Class A circles this season. The Quakers are favored to take the Tygers into camp tonight.

However, Mansfield should be anything but a setup if it continues to play the type of ball it has displayed in its last two appearances.

Rams, Warriors Vie On Madison Court.

TONIGHT'S Richland County league card will be headed by a meeting between Madison and Ontario on the Madison hardwood.

Madison, present leader in the league, meets a dangerous club in Coach Orv Kilber's men, one which has developed into a strong combine after a bad start.

The Rams trimmed the Warriors in their first meeting, but the Ontarioans hope to square accounts tonight.

Butler, which is one of Madison's chief threats for the league title, goes to Lexington tonight, while Bellville plays at Lucas. Lexington goes to Union Saturday night.

Twin-Valley league games tonight send Plymouth to North Fairfield and Adario to Shiloh. The Tigers will be making their first appearance since their initial defeat of the season, which was suffered at Attica last Saturday.

Ashland invades Bucyrus, Shelby entertains Galion and Marion goes to Mt. Vernon for N. C. O. conference games tonight. Non-league games Saturday will take Shelby to Norwalk and Fostoria to Marion.

Crestline travels to Marion St. Mary's tonight for a non-league tussle.

TYGER MATMEN AT HOME

The Mansfield high school wrestling team will make its first home appearance Saturday when it meets Columbus East in a dual meet at the high school at 4 p. m. The Tyger grapplers were defeated by Akron Garfield and Wadsworth in their first meets, although showing up particularly well against the latter team. Coach F. B. Million is being assisted by J. C. Gorman in preparing the team for the match.

Inmates Rout Canton Cagers

Price Scores 21 Points in 68 to 32 Victory.

The reformatory courtmen ran into little trouble yesterday as they walloped the Service Battery cagers of Canton, 68 to 32, at the institution. The visitors held the inmates to a 10 to 8 lead in the first period, but there was never any question about the outcome after the half, the O. S. R. bucket shooters leading 31 to 20.

Price was high for the inmates with 21 points. Calhoun contributed 13 and Murphy 10. Bergen led the visitors with 14.

Don Budge Takes Four-Match Lead Over Vines As He Cops Cleveland Win In Straight Sets

By WARNER PETERSON

DONALD BUDGE who jumped into professional tennis after winning all of the major amateur championships in the world stroked his way to a decisive 6-1 and 6-4 victory over Ellsworth Vines last night in the Cleveland Arena

Many Mansfielders were among the 3578 who watched without much enthusiasm while Budge defeated Vines for the eighth time to take a four-match lead in their present series

In his first set, the redhead stroking smoothly with good pace and length, particularly off the backhand, played entirely from the baseline and swept the first five games, breaking through Vines service twice. Vines took his service in the sixth but Budge held in the seventh game to run out the set 6-1. Budge played almost errorless tennis while Vines was wild and erratic and drove into the net or out of court repeatedly.

Starting out on his own service in the second set Vines raised his game to spectacular heights to produce the best tennis of the match as his powerful serve began clipping the lines enabling him to take the net against Budge's soft returns and lay them away Trailing at three games to two Vines blazed through the sixth and seventh, as his forehand drives under complete control for the first time, were good for several magnificent placements which left the amateur king standing helplessly waving his racquet This, however, was only a momentary spurt and as Vines game dropped back into low gear Budge easily took the next three games and the set

With the exception of the first part of the second set, Budge dominated the play by forcing his opponent to exchange backhands, and Don, with the most powerful backhand stroke in tennis, was on top all the way Vines as usual hit out all the time but he was unable to keep his speed under enough control to make it effective, and although it brought him more clean placements than Budge recorded, it also produced a much greater number of errors The veteran professional was outmaneuvered and on the defensive most of the match, and he was rarely able to bring his potent forehand into play without pulling himself out of position.

In the preliminary match, Dick Skeen defeated Bruce Barnes 6-3, 6-4. Barnes is known to many Mansfield residents through his connection with Kenyon college, where he was employed last spring as tennis coach. Barnes appeared at the Coliseum several years ago against Bill Tilden.

The doubles victory went to Vines and Barnes, who took over the Budge-Skeen combination 6-2, 6-4.

The New Firestone CHAMPION TIRE

All That the Name Implies!

The new Firestone Champion is all its name implies—a champion in safety, in quiet, smooth operation, in endurance and in style. Years of experience in building tires for the Indianapolis Races, Pikes' Peak climbs, and Bonneville Salt Bed runs, enabled Firestone to produce this great new tire. The new Firestone Champions are Triple-Safe:

First: The Firestone patented Gum-Dipped process counteracts tire-destroying internal friction and heat. That means protection against blowouts.
Second: They have two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread. That means protection against punctures.
Third: They have a scientifically designed tread that stops your car up to 25% quicker. That means protection against skidding.

Join the Firestone Save-A-Life Campaign by equipping your car with a set of Firestone Champions.

Drills Boxers For Mittfest

Bus Doehla Prepares 20 at Friendly House.

Approximately 20 Mansfield youngsters are working out three days a week at the Friendly House gymnasium under the watchful eyes of Trainer Bus Doehla as they prepare for the annual winter A. A. U. boxing show to be held at the settlement Tuesday, Feb. 14.

Doehla is impressed with the performance of several of the leather slingers and hopes to have them in readiness for some of the headline bouts on the cards. The workout are held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

Entries from out-of-town stables began to pour in today and Mike Wentz, who, with Johnny Villella, will act as matchmakers, said he expected boys from Marion, Ashland, Mt. Vernon, Bucyrus, Norwalk, Fremont, Crestline, Galion and Sandusky to match blows in the show. This winter's card will be the first sponsored under the A. A. U. rules at the Friendly House.

COOPER, McSPADEN MEET IN BIG 'FRISCO MATCH

SAN FRANCISCO — (U.P.) — It's every man for himself today as 32 of the nation's leading golfers get down to business in the annual San Francisco match play open tournament of the Lakeside Country club links. They'll fire away in two "sudden death" 18-hole rounds that will trim the field to eight by nightfall.

The big match today pairs "Lighthorse" Harry Cooper of Chicopee, Mass., the tournament medalist, and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, of Winchester, Mass., one of the finest match players in the game.

EARLY LEAD GIVES PATTY AUGUSTA WOMEN'S CROWN

AUGUSTA, Ga.—(INS)—National Champion Patty Berg of Minneapolis today added the Augusta women's golf championship to her collection. Save for an overwhelming lead, however, it would have been snatched away on the last round by Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta. Leading by six strokes at the three-quarter mark, Miss Berg finished just two up in the 72-hole event on her southern rival, the final score being 319 and 321.

SERVIS WINS OPENER

CORAL GABLES, Fla.—(U.P.)—Defending Champion Bob Servis of Dayton, O., who tied for medal honors, scored an easy 5 and 4 triumph over Jack Lich of St. Louis Thursday in first-round match play in the Miami Biltmore amateur golf tournament.

Money to Loan

Family Financing
$25 to $1,000

It's hard to get ahead and accumulate a future reserve when numerous scattered debts are holding you back. It's much easier and less expensive to combine all your obligations into one with the aid of a loan, and cut down monthly outlay by making one payment cover everything. Fewer monthly payments will give you more money for family needs and enjoyment during 1939. Your local City Loan manager will gladly talk over your money requirements privately without obligation.

MARKET TURNS ERRATIC AFTER MILD ADVANCE

American Telephone Exception to General Hesitancy, Hits New High.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—After a mild advance at the opening, leading stocks turned slightly irregular in today's market.

American Telephone was an exception to the general hesitancy, hitting another new 1938-39 high.

Able to post fractional gains—some eventually slipped—were Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania, Great Northern, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Western Union, Westinghouse, Loft and U. S Gypsum.

Bonds continued to point selectively higher. Commodities were mixed. European securities markets were mostly lower.

Boardrooms noted week-end trade surveys which found that, despite a pickup in demand for seasonal lines of merchandise due to the wintry weather, retail spending for the country as a whole this week was quite spotty.

It added that wholesale purchasing made a better comparative showing than retail.

U. S. INDICTS 10

TOLEDO —(AP)— Ten persons were indicted secretly this month by the federal grand jury on the charge of conspiracy to violate the internal revenue law, it was revealed today. The group is accused by federal agents of having cheated the U. S government out of $150,000 in taxes between July 1937 and April 1938.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Speaks On Sight—Miss Isabelle Beery, Cleveland, spoke on "Working Eyes" last night at the Red Cross training class on home hygiene and care of the sick. The class was in charge of Mrs. Warren C. Fort, Red Cross nurse.

Discuss Lighting—Members of the Mansfield Movie club discussed "Lighting for Indoor Movies" at a sesison last night at the Gfrer beauty salon. Frank Gfrer, president, was in charge. The club's next meeting will be Feb. 2 at 161 East Fourth street.

Story Hour—Mrs. J. W. Funk, member of the Mansfield Story Telling League, will have charge of the children's story hour at 9:30 a. m. Saturday at the Public library, and will tell the stories of "Three Oranges," "Reddy Fox Invites Peter Rabbit To Take A Walk," and "Chapel Builders."

Discussion Planned — Members of the Sepain club will meet at 4 p. m. Sunday at the Y. W. C. A. for a study hour at which the life of James Weldon Johnson will be discussed. Leaders will be Miss Cora Jackson and Miss Marguerite Beck.

Speaks at Mission—Rev. Paul Robinson of Bellville will speak at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at a meeting at the Christ Gospel Mission, 226 North Diamond street. A trio of young women from the Free Methodist church will furnish music during the service.

Sergeant Transferred — The transfer of First Sergeant Frank D. Oblinger, former Mansfield resident, from U. S. army headquarters at Portland, Me., to the Panama Canal Zone for foreign service, was learned here today. Sergt. Oblinger was a member of Company M, and served in France with the 37th Division of the Ohio National Guard. Accompanied by his wife and two sons, he will sail for Panama March 1.

Returns From Convention—Mrs. A. Hornstein of Galion returned yesterday from Cincinnati where she attended the 36th Biennial convention of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. Mrs. Hornstein was delegate from the local Temple Sisterhood which includes Mansfield, Ashland and Galion.

Decorators tell us never to use candlesticks for decoratives without candles in them and never to use candlelight before sundown without the shades being drawn.

SENIOR HIGH TO AID 'MARCH OF DIMES' DRIVE

Receipts From Two Basketball Games Tonight Go to Fund to Fight Paralysis.

Senior high school will stage two basketball games tonight as its part in the "march of dimes" campaign being conducted throughout the nation in the fight against infantile paralysis.

First game of the doubleheader will feature the Union High school team and the Senior high junior reserves, and the second will bring together John Simpson Junior high and the sophomore reserve team.

Admission to the games will be 10 cents, and all proceeds will go toward the fight against infantile paralysis. The games were arranged by Harry Mehock, assistant coach at the high school.

Ticket sale for the games was sponsored by the Social Science Service club committee comprised of Robert Stewart, Emil Eisen, Virginia Williams, Arlene Bauman and Miriam Jenkins.

Robert Castor was discussion leader at the weekly meeting of the M. H. S. Forum yesterday after school. The group held a discussion on the subject, "Boycotting." William Huston is program chairman of the forum.

Tentative plans for two future events were made at a meeting of the 11-B class Wednesday. The juniors will present an assembly early next semester with various members of the class presenting the entertainment. A plan to sponsor a dance or show sometime next month to raise money for the class treasury also was outlined. Steve Karnava, class president, presided.

Throwing Dummy Hand-Grenades New Soviet Sport

MOSCOW—(INS)—Russia's most popular out-door sport today is throwing dummy hand-grenades.

Calculated to build muscle and make good soldiers, hand-grenade throwing, encouraged by the government, has spread like wild-fire.

Children playing in back-yards figure a direct hit at medium distance as ten dead enemies; in distance throwing, accuracy counts less than length, with three dead for accuracy and five for length.

Workers enjoy the sport so much that, according to Izvestia, "special courses for athletically inclined railwaymen, desirous of learning how to throw hand grenades were arranged some time ago in Moscow.

"Learning what a great part was played in the Lake Khassan battles against the Japanese invaders by 'pocket artillery,' as hand grenades are called in the Far East, the capital's railway workers decided to become proficient at this defensive form of sport."

CHICAGO POLICE AUTOS 'LIT UP'

They Carry Neon Signs So Drivers Won't Try to Speed.

CHICAGO— (AP) —Neon signs eight inches high, reading "police," have been placed on top of certain Chicago park district squad cars as an experiment in helping motorists maintain legal speed limits.

The squad cars are driven along the park roads at legal speeds. Motorists can see the signs a quarter of a mile distant and govern their speed accordingly.

"We don't want to operate speed traps in the park district," explained James B Kerr, chief of the park police. "We want people to know a police car at night when they see one There won't be any camouflaging."

1940 VOTE, WISH AT 100

BYFIELD, Mass — (UP) —Mrs. Eliza Rogers, 100, says her fondest wish is to vote for the Republican candidate in the 1940 presidential election. The centenarian, who occupies herself with needlework and reading despite her advanced years, has never missed a national election since women were granted the ballot.

CHAPTER IV.

With the help of Tuck her black net dress, the first evening dress she had bought, was remodeled for Saturday night. She paused in her sewing to think about Kurt. It was strange to be in love with a man who had disappeared into the darkness and snow after he had kissed you and you have no idea where he lived or if that kiss meant anything to him.

"You're worrying about Tod," Tuck said when they were walking to a movie. "He'll turn up."

"I've failed my mother and father. I couldn't keep him. And I've begged him to come back."

"Nonsense. You haven't failed anybody. He'll be glad enough to look you up when he gets hungry. We'll try to find a job and set him straight."

Wearing her new mink coat and a little cossack hat, Nancy called for Alix and looked around the modestly furnished apartment and then at Alix who wore a green sport dress and brown coat and brown hat.

"I'd like to live in a place like this and have a job," Nancy said. "I would really. I can cook and do wonders with last year's clothes. But I don't have to. And a million girls would change places with me."

Pulling on brown gloves, Alix said, "I never complained until I lost my job."

"Oh, I spoke to father about that and he's going to talk to you tonight. I'm sure he can do something for you. I told you his weakness for blonds."

Her car, a shining yellow roadster, was soon humming along the highway.

Bernice Lawrence lived in a small rambling white house built in a grove of frost-tipped pines.

"Mother's house of exile," Nancy said quietly. "Poor mother."

A maid opened the door and took their coats and hats. Then Alix went into the quaintly charming living room furnished in maple with two chintz-covered divans pulled toward a brightly burning fire. The home of a woman with taste and dignity, she thought, but it was a far cry from the startling modern rooms where Don lived.

Alix was standing by the fire when Bernice came in and she saw a tall, dark-haired, dark-eyed woman wearing a dark blue knitted dress.

After she kissed Nancy, she came to Alix. "So you're Alix. I hope you like my little house well enough to come often"

"I'd like to live in a house like this," Alix said. "There's a lovely view from every window."

"It's much nicer when Nancy's with me. In June she comes to live with me again" She glanced at her daughter. 'How is your father, dear?"

"He's fine. We're having another party tonight."

"Another?"

"We're always having parties."

"Kurt was out to see me last week. Have you met Kurt, Alix?"

Before Alix could speak, Nancy said, "Yes, she has met him but she doesn't know about Gina. Tell her about Gina, Mother."

Alix turned towards the fire, feeling color rise in her face. Her hands felt weak. No. don't tell me, she thought. I don't want to hear the truth about him and another girl. I can't bear it. For the first time in my life I don't want the truth. It will hurt too much.

But despite the soft even tones of Bernice's calm voice, her words went through Alix like sharp thrusts.

"It's Gina Rowland, the actress," Bernice said.

Low, Alix said, "Oh, that Gina," and remembered photographs of a tall slender girl with black hair and black eyes. Gina Rowland returning from Paris wearing the latest in hats, photographed against the background of a luxury liner; Gina Rowland in an exclusive fashion magazine wearing a startling gown and many diamond bracelets. That Gina. . . .

Bernice said, "Kurt met her two years ago. He was mad about her. She's clever and beautiful and charming. He wanted her to marry him immediately but her career postponed it. She'd worked hard and a big opportunity presented itself. But when the play closed after an unsuccessful run and everybody thought they'd be married, she met somebody else, a man richer than Kurt. That was a year ago. But she didn't marry the other man. I don't know what happened. But I do know what it did to Kurt. . ."

Nancy said, "It nearly killed him. He tried not to let anybody know but we all knew. He hasn't seen her for a year. But he's still in love with her.

Alix was grateful when luncheon was announced. She scarcely knew that she was eating for putting together the love story of Kurt and Gina. "I know now," she thought. "I know." But that didn't help. It made it worse.

It was twilight when she drove back to town with Nancy.

"Love!" Nancy said with scorn. "I'll never fall in love because I've seen what it can do to you. I've seen what it has done to my mother. When love goes wrong, it breaks you and destroys you. I don't want any of it."

"Does she still love your father? She asked about him."

"I'm sure she does but I've never asked her. He despises her for divorcing him. It's hopeless. And one of these days he'll marry again, marry somebody years younger than himself, a girl who'll want only his money and position. For six years," she said quietly, "I've been living in the death of love. It's done something to me. Poisoned me and frightened me. I could never be in love with any of the boys I know. They're mostly college boys and they've never had a serious thought. If it's ever to be any one, it will have to be some one who's been hurt and warped, too. We'd understand each other."

Hurt and warped—like Tod, Alix though. It was odd to link this rich and elegant girl with the boy who scrubbed decks. Who had scrubbed decks, she corrected instantly, and fears for his safety rose again in a flash.

Alix was wearing the black net dress when at a little past 10 that night Don called for her.

"Nancy tells me you're not working," he said as they walked across the court. "That won't do —if you really want a job. There's always room in my office for one more. As a matter of fact, Sally, my priceless secretary, is leaving me to become a country doctor's wife, and there's nobody in the office who can take over her job. Nobody good enough. Suppose you come down to my office on Monday and we'll talk about it."

Her first impulse was to refuse. But could she? Her foolish pride and independence again, she thought. It wasn't fair for Tuck to assume complete responsibility for the apartment, and any time Tod might come back without a job and needing money. She had to accept.

"It's very kind of you, Mr. Lawrence."

His gay eyes scolded her. "Mr. Lawrence? Now you make me feel ancient," he said with a suave smile. "As old as Nancy's father. I couldn't be that old. Don, please, and don't forget it."

She smiled. "Don."

"That's much better."

She did not want it this way. She did not want to accept favors from Don and be in debt to him. Nor could she quite put into words her uneasiness when she was with him. Don Lawrence used, hurt, and discarded the peo- who came into his life. He bought his way. Alix wished she could say to him, "I'm your daughter's friend. Stop flirting with me, Don. I don't flirt and play. Love isn't a game to me."

There was gay dancing in his apartment when they arrived. Nancy, in a silver dress, took Alix into her bedroom.

"It looks as if I'm going to work for your father," Alix said.

"I'm so glad. I knew he'd help you." Then she wrinkled her brow and said slowly, "It would be funny. . . . Oh, no, you wouldn't. He's too old for you. And—and it really wouldn't be funny at all."

Later Alix was to remember those words. . . .

Kurt was not in the room when she joined Don and danced with him. But presently she saw him come in, give his coat and hat and white scarf to the servant, and enter the living room. How much taller, leaner, more angular he looked in the black and white of his dinner clothes' And he was coming toward her!

"I'm a guest, Don. You'll have to let me dance with Alix."

"The evening is still young fortunately," Don said and Alix felt herself being transferred into the only pair of arms she cared to be in.

Superficially it was a gay party, she thought, but there were strong, tense undercurrents. The worldly Don. The sweet, unhappy Nancy. Kurt who had loved and lost, Kurt whom she loved so achingly. There were others not here but remembered—Tod, Eddie, Bernice, Gina. Somehow they were all bound by cords, tightening. Some of the cords would break and others would gain in strength. And some of them would suffer. . . .

But she was in Kurt's arms again, living for the moment. . .

Sometime later Alix found herself in a deserted cornor with Kurt.

"I'm going to bawl you out," he said. "You didn't tell me you weren't working. Nancy just told me."

"Don asked me to come down to his office on Monday."

He nodded. Don had made his customary gesture. He wanted to say, "Don't accept. You'll get involved with him." But who was he to tell a girl he was seeing for the third time what to accept and what to reject? And yet the thought of her being next on Don's list of flirtations and people saying when they saw them together at parties and night clubs, "Don Lawrence has a new blond," annoyed and bothered him.

"I met Bernice today," Alix said. She had to say something to keep him from thinking. After a year was he still thinking of Gina Rowland when his dark eyes had that absent look?

"She's fine, isn't she?" he asked.

Then Don came over to them.

After that she was separated from Kurt for the remainder of the evening but when the party was breaking up, he came to her again.

"I'm taking Alix home," he said to Don. "You're already home."

Don said "Okay," lightly, but Alix knew he resented it.

RECORD GOLD FLOW TO U. S.

Imports Expected to Total Nearly $1,850,000,000.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Gold imports are expected in financial circles to reach a new record high of around $1,850,000,000 This would compare with $1,600,000,000 in 1937 and $1,740,000,000 during the previous peak period in 1934.

Back of the huge inflow of yellow metal, of course, lies this country's record-breaking export balance—which foreign countries must pay for—and the unsettled condition of markets abroad. Despite the recession, foreigners found investment here more attractive than at home.

A Hollywood chorus director recommends rotary movement, ankle bending while sitting in a chair, and walking on tiptoe in bare feet as the best method for slimming ankles.

WORTHINGTON MAYOR SAYS HIS TOWN'S 'HEALTHIEST IN OHIO'

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Going some place for your health?

Allow Mayor Leonard Insley of nearby Worthington to tell you about that "health resort."

"It's the healthiest spot in Ohio," Mayor Insley said and pointed to a stack of figures to prove it.

At least 17 of the town's 1,500 population have reached the age of 80 and the death rate is less than half the average for the rest of the state, he boasted.

The mayor has the names of 17 octogenarians living in the village.

"I know there are others who won't admit it," he declared.

Only 12 persons died in Worthington last year, Mayor Insley said. five of them ranging in age from 77 to 93. The death rate was 1.22 per 100 population compared with the state average of three per 100.

The mayor lists the following reasons for the town's health record:

1. Worthington is located on a hill, all surface water draining away following rains.
2. The air is free from soot.
3. Its water comes from wells tapping a pre-glacial underground river.
4. Free garbage and rubbish disposal and a good sewer system.
5. Compulsory mowing of weeds to prevent mosquitoes.

As a final gesture of confidence, the mayor invites any other Ohio community to trot out a better health record than Worthington's.

SUIT SETTLED

Agreement Reached In Action for $3,285 Against Teacher.

Settlement out of court had been made today in a $3,285 damage suit against Robert Wendland, Mansfield teacher, who was involved in an automobile accident last March 6 on route 13 near Shenandoah.

Settlement, the amount of which was not announced, was completed with Edward Steinmetz, Mansfield, who filed the action several weeks ago, contending he was injured in the accident.

The suit had been dismissed today in common pleas court and costs totaling $5.95 were assessed against Wendland.

750 AT SESSION

Ashland Credit Association Names Year's Officers.

ASHLAND—The annual meeting of the Ashland Productive Credit association held in the Church of Christ here attracted 750 stockholders and friends.

Speakers heard during the session included Mrs. M. V. Funk, secretary-treasurer of the Muskingum county NFLA, and F. L. Kerr, of the Productive Credit association offices in Louisville, Ky. Kerr spoke on "Why Agriculture requires a special credit system of its own," stressing the great seasonal changes which make it difficult to solve the agricultural financing problem satisfactorily.

Two directors chosen at the meeting include C. E. Weikel and W. E Stough.

USE BUTTER SPRAYER

TOLEDO, O.—(UP)—A new way to grease pans before they receive dough en route to the oven—spray the butter on with paint-spraying equipment. Large Toledo bakeries use locally-made paint-spraying apparatus for their pan-greasing and report that an advantage of the method is accurate control.

Fight Cut In WPA Funds

Mayor LaGuardia of New York (left) and Col. Harrington, new WPA administrator, appear at secret session of senate appropriations committee to fight $150,000,000 cut in $875,000,000 WPA appropriation. LaGuardia, president of the U. S. Conference of Mayors, said a million workers would lose jobs unless the senate restored cut made by the house.

Strato Flights to Paris In Ten Hours, Aim of U. S.

HUGE PLANES BEING BUILT FOR SERVICE

Trans-Atlantic Schedules to Open in 2 Months, Capital Observers Hear.

(By International News Service)
(Copyright, 1939).

WASHINGTON—New York and Paris are expected to be linked via the stratosphere in regular 10-hour commercial airline flights within a year, it was learned today.

This was disclosed to International News Service as the United States boldly stepped out to capture the honors of establishing the first trans-Atlantic air line to Europe—within two months.

In so doing, this government pushed aside an arrangement with the British which is charged with having held up trans-Atlantic air service for nearly two years.

As the result, the first passenger-carrying commercial air line across the Atlantic, flying American colors, is expected to begin actual operation between the United States and France by March 15, or earlier.

Use Clipper Ship First.

The first schedules are expected to require from 20 to 24 hours as they will be flown in huge clipper ships of the seaplane type via the Azores to Marsailles, France.

But, International News Service learned, two huge 350-mile-an-hour land planes, designed to fly in very high altitudes away from storm areas are nearing completion for use in the trans-Atlantic service.

The stratosphere planes will carry an 80,000 pound commercial load, will be of the land plane type so that they can take off from New York and land in Paris, and are expected to double the flight speed of the types of commercial seaplane carriers now ready for use. These will be ready within a year or less.

The United States completed its surprise agreement with France for a trans-Atlantic line yesterday after Great Britain had threatened to start a line from England to Montreal, leaving out any port of call in the United States.

The tilt for trans-Atlantic air prestige between the United States and Britain developed from an original agreement between Pan-American Airways and Imperial Airways in 1935 under which the British obtained an agreement that both would begin operations simultaneously.

The proposed route was from New York to Ireland, via Newfoundland, and thence to London. This route would follow the great circle, which is the shortest air line to Europe, but would be used only in the summer because of the treacherous winter weather over the North Atlantic. In the winter the route would be via the Azores.

ILL FOUR YEARS

Mrs. Rebecca Casebeer to Be Buried at Bucyrus.

BUCYRUS — Last rites will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the Munz funeral home for Mrs. Rebecca Casebeer, 73, widow of William Casebeer, who died at her home, 654 Lane street, Wednesday night following a four-year illness. Captain Ruth Ward of the Salvation Army will officiate and burial will be made in Forest Glen Memorial cemetery.

Survivors include eight children, Orra and Edwin, Mrs. Wesley Bippus and Hazel Casebeer, all of Bucyrus; Jay of Canton; Mrs. Charles Hipp of Mansfield; Mrs. E F. Ross of Cleveland, and Mrs. Cora VanHorn of Conover; three brothers, Eddie Nelson of Bucyrus; Sam Nelson of Michigan, and William Nelson living in West Virginia, and one sister, Mrs. Nettie Gray of Bucyrus.

SUPPORTS PLAN

Roosevelt Backs Navy Program to Fortify Guam Harbor.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — President Roosevelt today approved the navy's plans to spend $5,000,000 dredging the harbor of Guam and making other military improvements.

The executive indicated that the congressional authorization of this amount was being made without any thought of negotiations with Japan, although it was recalled to him at his press conference that an earlier move to make a big naval base at Guam resulted in the calling of the 1922 arms conference.

Mr. Roosevelt made a careful distinction between congressional authorizations and appropriations, pointing out that the measure now being considered merely authorized but did not appropriate for the arming of the tiny but vital Pacific island.

Vaudeville, Circus Acts Combined In Snappy Ohio Revue

Talent from the vaudeville stage and the "big top" is combined with an unusually good chorus and band to make 'Broadway After Dark' one of the better road revues. The show closes a two-day engagement at the Ohio theater tonight, headlining the theater's 11th birthday celebration.

The Six DeCardos does a balancing and jumping act that moves swiftly with a thrill a second. In one of their stunts all of the acrobats change places so rapidly that it is difficult for the audience to follow them.

The Three Siegfrieds—a man and two girls—appear in mailed armor and perform some unusual balancing feats. The Siegfried metal balls are so huge that when they drop to the stage they fairly make the theater shake.

Ted and Art Miller with a ukelele and a mandolin and a daffy sort of comedy were enthusiastically received by a Mansfield audience. One of the boys has an ambition to recite a 'piece' which is akin to Jack Benny's determination to play 'The Bee'

SEES MOVIES

Photographic Society Sees Color Films of Scenes in South.

Technicolor views of historical homes throughout the south were shown to the Mansfield Photographic society at their semi-monthly meeting last night by Carl Townsend of Wellington.

Townsend, a banker, took the pictures during a recent trip through the south in which he visited New Orleans.

The next meeting of the society will be held Feb 2, in the Chamber of Commerce assembly rooms, Al Stracken, president of the organization said.

HEAR LUTHERAN PASTOR

'SLICKER' BROTHERS QUIZZED IN MORE CLEVELAND ROBBERIES

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND—The tale of two brothers, who between hold-ups and robberies talked their way into smart aviation society, grew more picaresque by the hour today.

Police had confessions to seven crimes from Peyton and Quenton Wilson, 28 and 22, who had been guests repeatedly here of a former Royal Air force captain and his family, who believed them wealthy sportsmen. They questioned them about nearly a score more.

Representing themselves as "sons of the Chicago meat-packing family," Peyton had courted Lillian, 19, beautiful daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Julian Inglefield.

Today he admitted that he had a wife and five-year-old daughter in sunny New Orleans.

The two acknowledged reluctantly, too, that their family really happen to be on WPA, in New Orleans.

But there was no backing down on boasts that "we know all the movie stars"

Police said the two had confessed five robberies in Cleveland, one in New Orleans and another in Nashville.

Friendship with the Inglefield family had led to acquaintance with famous racing pilots. Many socially prominent families had accepted them as charming southern playboys they wanted to know.

Police said that Peyton had admitted robbing the Jefferson Bottling company in New Orleans of $3,200 last May and that both brothers had confessed robbing two men of $152 in a Nashville hotel two months ago.

New Orleans police said they wanted to talk to the brothers about 20 crimes involving $8,000 loot.

Police here planned to try them for crimes confessed in Cleveland. Suburban Lakewood wanted them also for a robbery in which the victim was driven around for hours in his automobile trunk

BLAZE KILLS 3

Woman, 90, Among Victims of Mansion Fire in N. Y.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Three members of one family, including a 90-year-old woman, were burned to death today when fire swept a four-story brownstone mansion in Brooklyn.

The dead:
Mrs Amelia Clement, 90.
Her son, George Clement, 54.
Mrs. Grace Clement, his wife, 51.

Arthur Clement, another son of the aged woman, was overcome by smoke but was revived.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined but it apparently originated in the basement of the old mansion.

RENAMES HUBER

Shelby Country Club Elects President for Ninth Term.

SHELBY—C. S Huber was re-elected president of the Shelby Country club for his ninth term yesterday at the annual meeting at the club house. Huber has headed the club since its organization in 1930.

Only one change was made in the officers for 1939. G. S. Dennis was named to succeed Paul Curry as secretary-treasurer of the club. Curry resigned.

Other officers re-elected at the meeting included H. W. May and W B Kuhn, vice presidents, and George Reichert, jr., assitant secretary-treasurer.

The following directors were renamed: W. W. Van Horn, H. J. Van Horn, H. Tiffany, C. C. Fish, C J Laser, J. C. Morris and W. R. Morris Howard Sotzen was chosen on the board to succeed Mr. Curry.

'ECONOMY DRIVE' NEARLY ENDED

1,300 Dismissed From Highway Posts, Beightler.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Highway Director Robert S Beightler indicated today with the discharge of seven state employes that his "economy cleanup" was about finished.

More than 1,300 have been dropped by the department in less than two weeks.

A. C. Thompson of Cleveland, Leo Nolan of Steubenville and five landscape architects were fired today. Thompson has been assistant chief of the testing laboratory while Nolan, brother of John Nolan, Jefferson county Democratic leader, was foreman of bridge construction.

HOST TO DEBATE

SHELBY — About 200 students will participate in the annual debate tournament at the high school Saturday. The tournament will open in the morning and continue throughout the afternoon. About 40 schools are expected to enter teams in the annual event.

Ruppert's Nieces, Friend To Share In Huge Estate

NEW YORK — (AP) — A young and comparatively unknown woman, Helen Winthrope Weyant, was named one of the three chief beneficiaries of the estate of Col Jacob Ruppert, multionaire bachelor and owner of the New York Yankees baseball club, whose will was filed for probate in county Surrogate's court today. His fortune has been variously estimated at $30,000,000 to $70,000,000.

The other principal beneficiares are Helen Ruppert Silleck and Ruth Rita Silleck, nieces of Colonel Ruppert. He was 71.

Byron Clark, jr., one of Col Ruppert's attorneys, said she was "a very dear friend of the colonel's and I have met her socially. She is very charming."

And at the offices of Chorus Equity, the AFL union to which chorus girls belong, it was said that a "Winthrope Wayne" was listed as a member and had appeared in several musical shows among them "The Merry Malones" and "Three Cheers"

Under the terms of the will all of the capital stock of the Ruppert holding corporation, which holds the stock of the Yankee club, is divided into three parts for the benefit of the nieces and Helen Winthrope Weyant.

NEW CONTRACTS LET AT GALION

School Board Receives Bids on Electrical and Heating Work for Building.

GALION — Contracts for electrical work, heating and ventilating and plumbing on the new East school building, a $98,182 construction, were let Thursday night at a special meeting of the Galion board of education. Bids were received for the work Wednesday afternoon, and the contract for the general construction work was let late Wednesday afternoon to the L. M. Leonard company of Columbus who was low bidder at $67,308.

William Unger, of Bucyrus, architect for the building, was present at last night's meeting to make a careful study of the bids for the remaining contracts.

The contract for electrical wiring was awarded to A M. Carter of Galion for $3,275. He was low bidder.

H. C. Sponhauer of Galion was low bidder for the plumbing job at $5,123.09, and the board recommended a contract to him for this work.

The board decided upon a warm air heating and ventilating system, and a contract was recommended to be let to the Columbus Heating and Ventilating company at $8,790.

It is expected that work on the building will get underway within the next 10 days.

Pianist's Concert At Lima Attracts City Music Lovers

A number of Mansfield members of the Civic Music association went to Lima last night to hear the Sergei Rachmaninoff concert which was one of the outstanding musical events of the year, as the pianist's concert tour includes only a few Ohio cities.

Membership tickets purchased during the campaign in the spring are honored anywhere a Civic Music association concert is presented. A number of members from other cities are expected in Mansfield Jan. 31 for the Marion Anderson concert.

The Rachmaninoff concert attracted music lovers from all over the state to Lima last night. An enthusiastic audience demanded his famous Prelude as an encore.

Among the Mansfielders who drove to Lima for the concert were Albert Arnold, Harry Russell, John Vogt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huston, Miss Ann Jeanette Clinger, Miss Sanchen Cutter, Weston Cutter, Gene Shoemaker, William Mogg, Miss Martha King, Miss Katherine Hartman, Mrs. Rupert F. Cox and daughter, Miss Emily Cox, Mrs. George W. Hall, Mrs. George Gernhardt, jr., Miss Beatrice Colvin, Walter Jordan, Miss Alfaretta Bowden, Miss Faye Cisco, and Miss Willamine Hoffman.

MILLION FOR MOONEY, PLAN

California Lawmaker Would Give Pardoned Labor Chief Indemnity for Term.

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—If the plan of a California assemblyman, a known liberal, is fruitful, Tom Mooney will be voted "in excess of $1,000,000" by the state legislature for his 22 years imprisonment, it was learned by International News Service.

The legislator plans to introduce the bill awarding Mooney a huge imdemnity at the present session of the assembly, but will withhold action pending outcome of the pardon application of Warren K. Billings, Mooney's co-defendant, who is still incarcerated at Folsom prison.

Pending introduction of the bill, the assemblyman asked that his name be withheld. He indicated he would seek a similar indemnity for Billings.

Both Mooney and his attorney, George T. Davis, refused to comment on the proposed indemnity.

"Tom has no plans to sue the state of California for his imprisonment," Davis said.

"My plans, at the moment," said Mooney, "are, first, to seek the freedom of Billings, my co-worker, co-defendant and co-sufferer; secondly, to work for the unity of the A. F. of L., CIO and the railway brotherhoods, and, third, to prevent Fascism from taking hold in America."

Charge Capone Aid Did Not Pay Taxes On $50,000 Ransom

CHICAGO —(UP)— Government attorneys sought to prove that Murray Humphreys, one-time lieutenant for gangster Al Capone, owes $37,165 in back taxes—part of it the tax on $50,000 they charge he received in 1931 as ransom in a kidnaping.

John D. Kiley, counsel for the bureau of internal revenue, made the accusation before Judge Bolon B. Turner of the U. S. board of tax appeals in outlining charges that Humphreys owes taxes and penalties for the years 1930, 1931 and 1932. He said he was prepared to prove Humphreys received the $50,000 as ransom and that it was part of his 1931 income.

He did not name the man allegedly released from custody on payment of the money. But in court, prepared to testify against Humphreys, was Robert Fitchie, president of the milk wagon drivers union, who disappeared for two day in December, 1931, during a bitter battle with Humphreys for control of the union. When he reappeared the union announced that he had been kidnaped and that $50,000 had been paid for his release.

Liquor Law Enforcement Promised.

ADDRESSING Ohio brewers at their annual convention in Columbus this week, Governor Bricker is quoted as having said that "the essence of this administration will be enforcement of the (liquor) laws as we find them on the books" and that his only pledge to brewers was strict enforcement of law.

While enforcement of "laws as we find them" should bring considerable improvement in the present low that has been reached by the liquor traffic in Ohio, some revamping of existing laws is apparently essential to restoration of this business to the relatively high plane of the old-time saloon.

As handled by the state liquor control board during the past five years, intent of Ohio liquor laws seems directed more toward producing revenues from taxes and licenses than curbing excessive use of intoxicants.

Loose methods of issuing and transferring licenses, without regard to character or past record of licensees, has created disturbing conditions in many cities, including Mansfield.

Arbitrary ruling that 3.2 beer is non-intoxicating, with resultant scattering of beer places through residence sections, coupled with Sunday selling that has frequently cloaked bootlegging of hard liquor, has also discouraged law enforcement efforts by local authorities.

There is not only need for enforcement of "laws as we find them" but also for such revision of present laws as will restore the liquor traffic to at least as high standards as were reached before saloons were voted out of Ohio.

Eighty Billions a Year.

MUCH comment has been aroused by the statement, in President Roosevelt's recent budget message, that the country should have an income of $80,000,000,000 a year. That is what we had in the famous year of 1929, in the last quarter of which the bottom seemed to drop out of our system. We have been wobbling along since with an income of $39,000,000,000 to $66,000,000,000.

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, financial statistician, agreeing that we could get along comfortably with the presidential estimate, says we would have to be doing 25 per cent more business than we did in 1937, which was a pretty good year. It would require a larger turn-over of goods and services than there was in 1929, because prices are lower now. More goods are needed, too, because there is 9,000,000 more population than in 1929.

When we look at the imponderable factors, however, we find it isn't so easy to get started on this eighty-billion program. People begin figuring and lose their nerve. They find, as Col. Ayres observes, that whereas 60 per cent of our corporations made money in the glad days before 1929, only 30 per cent have made money since 1930. The chances of success have fallen one-half.

Thus conscience, or arithmetic, "doth make cowards of us all." The old term for investing money was "adventuring" it. The spirit of financial adventure has been at least temporarily lost in the maze of New Deal experimentation that has been going on.

Rebuilding America.

BUILDING figures are encouraging. Current reports show new construction last month amounting to $389,000,000 in value, setting a record for 10 years. The work started was 86 per cent higher than in the previous December and 29 per cent ahead of last November. Total construction for 1938 was $8,197,000,000, a gain of 10 per cent over 1937.

We are still far from the building volume of pre-depression years. But from present indications, it might be reasonable to expect $4,000,000,000 of new work this year, with increasing volume after that. There are enormous arrears of housing and other construction to be made up, and the neglect of depression years, together with the great change in building styles and requirements, might run into tens of billions of new construction in the next few years.

Building is perhaps the most fruitful form of investment, because it fertilizes many different kinds of enterprise and produces much new employment. Whoever builds a house, store or factory is contributing to economic recovery far more than the visible outlay.

The Problem of Illiteracy.

RATHER startling, in this land of educational opportunity, to find the New York city school board asking for an increased budget partly on the ground that there are 250,000 people in the city who can neither read nor write in any language.

When it is considered how closely adult illiteracy links with poverty, as well as the high percentage of illiterates in certain classes of the population, difficulties associated with the attempt to establish reasonably equalized social security for everybody become increasingly evident.

Unfortunate as it may be, it cannot be escaped that an illiterate person will continue to find it practically impossible to earn a living in competition with those who have even rudimentary schooling.

With the 1930 census record of above four million illiterates in the United States it becomes easier to understand why such large audiences are gained by propagandists for fantastic schemes of various sorts.

It is revealed that Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith's middle name is DuRant, giving his foes opportunity to remark, "He sure do."

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—In his national defense message to congress, the president asked $300,000,000 to buy 3,000 airplanes for the army, but figures have been presented to him indicating that as many as 4,000 may be bought for the same money under mass production methods.

Those figures apparently are the basis for the sentence in his message reading:

"This ($300,000,000) should provide a minimum increase of 3,000 planes, but it is hoped that orders placed on such a large scale will materially reduce the unit cost and actually provide many more planes."

Old line aviators are simply horrified at some of the innovations proposed in mass production. They have been attuned to fancy work craft with every part polished and finished in chromium and hand tested for perfection. Mass production planes won't allow for that. First off, it is too expensive. Second, it is too slow.

This correspondent has seen some of the costly new planes with the hide removed and they are models of beauty and polish, inside and out. Every strut has evidently been hand finished, or at least finished to a degree requiring much personal attention by a mechanic.

Plan Paid Off for Nazis.

REPORTS coming in to government sources from Germany have indicated that the Nazi plane manufacturers long ago gave up such perfection of detail. The result was to contribute to the Fatherland an air industry capable of frightening fellow European nations into all sorts of queer acceptances.

The same reports say that German planes are being built for small men. Big men can't get into the closely fitted cockpits of their fighting planes. The idea is to haul fewer pounds of Nazi and more pounds of fighting equipment.

Yankee designs for several years have made the cockpit fit tight, but there has yet been no intimation that light-weight and feather-weight fighting men were preferred.

But the elimination of unessential finishing on parts going into the body of the plane has been advised here in the interest of economy and speed. There are 5,000 different kinds of parts in an ordinary airplane, and if fine touches can be eliminated even from a fair percentage of these, costs obviously will drop.

Army-Navy Dissension.

FURTHER, both the Army and Navy have known for years that they have had to pay heavily in overhead charges because of the limited number of each design of plane they could buy. The president's program calls for buying larger numbers of each type. Moreover, just the fact that a manufacturer can keep his whole plant busy for sustained periods is expected to contribute to the cost reduction as well as the speed-up.

Of course the suggestion that the government is going to be able to buy somewhere near 4,000 planes for the old-time cost of 3,000 isn't going to convince congress altogether that the armament program is necessarily a good thing. There is a reported division within the War department over the military advisability of such an abrupt air expansion as the president proposes. Moreover, there is a suspicion of Navy dissension at the prospect of the Army getting such a fat-cat in the way of appropriations. These things filter into congressional ears to create opposition.

There is already intimation that a minor compromise with the Navy has been effected. The Army was bidding for a clear half billion. It didn't get it. The Navy got a cut. The president asked for $552,000,000 but suggested $65,000,000 of this for Navy purposes. The Army would get $450,000,000. (The balance would go for Canal Zone work and for training civilian pilots.) The Army feels that the Navy "got its" last year in the "billion dollar" building program.

Timely Editorial

Jack Benny's Plea.

The innocence of Jack Benny must be presumed until the government proves the charge of smuggling it has entered against him. In the public mind, however, his statement out of court, that his intentions were of the best, rather qualifies his plea of not guilty. The accused who says he meant nothing wrong is conceding a great deal.

Meanwhile, the millions who are indebted to the comedian for many happy hours are distressed that he finds himself in so compromising a position. On it face it is inexplicable that anyone earning $12,000 or so a week would involve himself in a business as unprofitable as trying to duck a customs duty of $700. We say the "government" is deprived of this $700, but the government in this case is all of us. It takes quite a company of income tax payers in the lowest brackets to replace such a sum in Federal receipts. — Detroit News.

"GIVE THIS CRITTER A REST"

The Human Side of the News

—By EDWIN C. HILL

SOME of the most famous hotels in America did not get out of the red until hard experience taught them to make a discreet display of distinguished guests. Hotel managements used to assume that noted citizens putting up with them were shy of publicity and flinched from seeing their names in the papers. Reporters seeking news in swanky caravanseries were not precisely welcome.

And then a press agent who had a deep knowledge of human nature persuaded one of the best-known taverns of all that imposing personalities who had signed the register were not really shrinking violets, and would actually bend an ear to the not too distant drum of publicity. And presently, in the natural course of things, the names of certain hotels came to be linked with great and glamorous names. And then the cash registers began to ring up profits and the receivers faded out of the financial picture.

Night clubs, from the first, knew the value of the bellwether patronage. During prohibition years this was not quite the asset it is today, as there was at least a hint of something furtive and illicit about the speakeasies, and the higher social caste had certain reserves about too much blatant night club notoriety. That was left to raffish "sugar daddies" and "butter-and-egg men." And how quaint, even in this brief span of years are these one-time word tags of nocturnal revel!

This aloofness is past. Never before has the Social Register's main cast of characters been so elaborately pictured, so flailed over by the columnists and town wits, so garishly portrayed in even its most casual elbow-bending and gustatory exercises. That wise old press agent was a good psychologist. Straight into the flashlights ride the gallant four hundred.

NIGHT CLUB owners have to be fast workers. They have heavy investments and stiff competition. To be sure, the show's the thing, but quite as important is the corps of shillers, cappers, touts, tipsters, space-grabbers, decoys and beagles, shepherding the dewey debs and their gilded clansmen and kinsmen into the jungle night spots of New York — the world's richest playground, with a mother lode of paydirt that would make just a pale string of color out of the forty-nine diggings.

Which brings me to my friend, Pete, who incidentally, touched off these lucubrations. That isn't his name, but certain reserves are necessary in telling about him, and that will do. Pete, rounding fifty now, was one of the limberest of the town's high-steppers, soon after the turn of the century. I believe it was in reference to Pete that the late Ned Hamilton tossed off the phrase, "high kicking and low thinking" as descriptive of the haut monde of his day. Pete bore a famous name, he was handsome and generous, had a flair for clothes, and a genial wit which always made him the life of the party. But, after a few years of pleasant dalliance, he was broke—flatter than a flounder. The old family fortune had somehow oozed away.

He got some backing, staged a show, flopped, did a short stretch as a theatrical press agent, made a brief comeback as a wine agent, tried to sell life insurence and finally became a race track tout. I saw him three or four years ago, shabby and let down, pouncheS under his eyes, the years crowding in on him.

AND then I saw Pete just the other day, groomed, massaged fit as a quarter horse, back to his old Bond Street tailoring, his Harvard A, his liberty ties and his inside tip on the fifth race. He was somewhat reticent about his new "lay," but I got the story, partly from him and partly from one of our mutual friends.

Pete is the shiller for the swankiest midnight-to-closing spot in New York. In funds again, he lives at an exclusive club and circulates in the inner strongholds of Mayfair and lures iridescent moths to the white lights. But that is only a detail of his new and lucrative enterprise. In a sleazy little hideout in the West Forties, he has an office where he trains other cappers — among them a brace of boys from the Ivy League colleges.

Pete is a connoisseur of vintage years and a gourmet. His curriculum stresses such matters heavily, and his acolytes are trained in a truly continental sophistication which equips them for a career as night club come-ons. He hooks them up with other clubs, for a cut, even if they are competing with his own. The whole thing is beginning to look like big business, with its publicity, coutourier, caterer sidelines and trimmings. I wonder if the guileless rich realize the full extent of their benefaction to this new and genteel social underworld.

Health Advice

Some Benefits From a Cold.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

GREAT horror is shown by statisticians and sociologists at the havoc wrought by the common cold. About a million people will be incapacitated this week from colds, making a loss of three thousand years of working time.

That looks impressive but I doubt if there is as much trouble as it looks on paper. That work all gets done some way or other. And I have always felt that a cold was kind of a nice thing. It puts you to bed for a day or two and lets you rest your poor, old, tired nervous system. You putter around the house and find things in drawers that you had forgotten you had. And it is a great satisfaction to think of those poor slaves doing all your work at the office for you.

This idea that a cold is a good thing gets some support from the observations of Dr. Charles Armstrong, of the U. S. Public Health Service, published in the Public Health Reports on Nov. 25th. Colds, according to Dr. Armstrong are good things in more ways than one.

Curbs Other Infections.

Dr. Armstrong began to think about the well-known fact that sleeping sickness and infantile paralysis are summer ills: and the common cold is a winter ill. Sleeping sickness and infantile paralysis both enter the body through the nose. Is it possible that a good nose infection with the common cold crowds out the more terrible diseases?

Working on this suggestion, Dr. Armstrong made some experiments. He washed the noses of white mice with salt water and pooled the washings. Then he grew a culture of bacteria from the washings and put minute amounts of these cultures into the noses of other mice several times a week. After a few days he inoculated their noses with the virus of sleeping sickness. Sixty per cent of them survived this inoculation, while in a control group of mice which had not been previously sprayed with the bacterial culture, only 25 per cent survived.

Raised Resistance.

Apparently the previous nasal infection raised a resistance in the membrane to other infections. It was found that the bacterial spray caused the production of white blood cells, which have a defensive role against infections. These white cells were poured into the nasal mucous membrane in great quantities. They apparently produced immunity for five days.

It is possible that some form of immunization can be produced in this way and that the experiments have a practical side. Certainly it would be worth trying in a community faced with an epidemic of infantile paralysis. A "summer cold," even if deliberately induced, is a welcome substitute for either of the other common summer infections.

A Farmer's Diary

The Oyster Supper.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ON THOSE rare occasions when the good ladies of our community club permit — and even invite—their menfolk to be present at some festivity, a man had better accept the invitation. If he doesn't, he'll miss something.

Most times these community club meetings are strictly feminine. Then keep away. One man among a crowd like that is merely cause for hilarity. But given a substantial proportion of hale, hungry man power, and an oyster supper—that's different. Men and oysters command respect.

When we arrived, a number of cars were parked about the red brick community house—which eight years ago was the country school. We heard the merry din of voices inside.

Three long tables were spread along the sides of the big room, with a tempting array of "everything that's good with oysters." There were pickles and jelly and pats of yellow, home-churned butter. There were lemon tarts and macaroons and pies. There was coleslaw and fruit salad, and even a big casserole of hot baked beans, in case somebody wasn't fond of oysters.

And that stew! It did not lack the oysters that gave it name. You had it made with milk or water, as you preferred. The waitresses went down the aisle between the tables with steaming bowls on trays, and the query, "Milk or water? Water, or milk?" I said, "Milk." She gave me a huge bowlful, hot and savory, with a dozen juicy bivalves lurking in its depths. Then a big tureen of oyster crackers came along. I was one of a long row of farmers, and for quite awhile we kept almost as quiet as the oysters, themselves. Only the crunch of crackers, and the occasional sound of soup, could be heard.

"I went to school here fifty years ago," said an aged, white haired man, whose memories were keener than his appetite. "That picture up there on the wall is like it used to be . . . big girls and boys in their twenties, and fifty or sixty scholars. It took a man to handle a school like that! But we learned a lot, and I liked to go. I'm glad they have the building for a community house. It gets us back together."

Listen, World!

Don't Kid Yourself, Young America—

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

A YOUNG modern said to me on New Year's Eve, "The trouble with all you older people is—you were raised on a lotta tripe. Taught to believe there was a real hell for sinners . . . regular red-hot coals, horned devils 'n' everything. Like to see any fakir try to sell us a line o' hooey like that today Gee, you musta felt cheap when you discovered it was all bunk!"

As the cynical speech of one individual, those remarks may not seen of great value. But as a tip-off on the attitude of millions of intelligent, ambitious, determined young citizens they should give this nation plenty of pause. They cannot know the background of our youth, these young Americans. They can only know the chaos which resulted from our muddled dreams. They cannot honor the principles or fear the precepts which held us fast to Truth . . . they can only despise the stupidity and sentimentality which cut us adrift from Reality.

As heirs only to wreckage, they must build a new world of their own. And it is OUR fault, not THEIRS if they build it on the flotsam and jetsam of sneers. The least we can do is to answer their comments temperately—not with tantrums . . . as I am trying to answer this New Year's comment.

So you think there's no hell, youngster . . . and you wonder how I felt when I discovered it?

You're wrong. I never "discovered it." To the contrary, each day has brought fresh proof that —THERE IS A HELL, FAR MORE APPALLING THAN THE ONE DESCRIBED BY THE BLIND MILTON OR SAINT PAUL.

Suppose we depart from this discussion of hell, and consider your conception of Heaven. A place of constant, exciting Adventure — yes? Something doing every minute. Going Places—Doing Things—Making Experiments —Running Risks. Above all — FEELING. Feeling fiercely, abundantly, joyously — forever. That, to Young America, would be Paradise . . . wouldn't it?

Then, in contrast, you look with loathing at the flabby, finished faces around you. Faces no longer flushed with pride or aflame with desire. To go through life like that—burnt out! No longer curious . . . or enthusiastic! Nothing, you're sure, could be more awful than such fate. You're right. Nothing could. Nothing except—hell!

AND THIS IS HELL!
NOT BLISTERED FLESH . . .
BUT BLASTED SPIRIT—
DEVOID, FOREVER, OF DESIRE—
YES, THAT IS HELL!

You're right, that's hell. A hell that doesn't lie in some remote abyss . . . nor hold its tortures back until you die . . . nor start upon some distant Judgment . . . BUT STARTS RIGHT HERE AND NOW . . . WITHIN YOURSELF . . . BETWEEN YOURSELF—AND GOD.

Not a question of broken convention or violated law . . . but the result of your own inner attitude. The consequence of your own defeated Faith . . . determined Optimism. OR YOUR OWN SURRENDERED DREAMS AND BURNT-OUT ECSTASIES.

The minute you become so sated or so wasted that you can no longer quicken to the call of Life —that minute you're in hell. And that's why you Young Moderns are in such particular peril. This Machine Age, while taking away your fear of Hell, has given you all the makings. License, ad lib. Liberty—without end. Sentiment? Blah! Nothing sacred . . . nothing serious! Life's a Bowl of Cherries . . . and Truth's a Hunk o' Tripe!

BUT THERE'S ONE THING YOU CAN'T OUTSMART . . . AND THAT IS LIFE! As surely as you make a joke of Life . . . so surely, Life will make a joke of you. Such a grim joke as you see daily in your rounds . . . those Fish-eyed men whose blood has turned to paperhanger's paste. Those Withered Women mincing through a ghastly mockery of motherhood and passion. Husks —incapable of flame—

NOT BLISTERED FLESH
BUT BLASTED SPIRIT WHERE NOTHING NEW CAN GROW...
BEWARE OF THAT HELL!
DARE TO FEEL! DARE TO LAUGH AND LIVE!

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—With Max Adelbert Baer in town, crocuses in bloom, and January acting like a kittenish co-ed, screw-ball stories would seem to be in order. And so, if you have already heard this, kindly pretend that it is new.

A nice young man, a very tipsy young man, passed a milk truck while walking home in the early dew. He thought it would be fun to speak to the horse, so he tipped his hat and said, "Good Morning."

To his utter amazement, the horse nodded its head and replied, "I want to wish you a good morning, too."

"Why," ejaculated the young man, "I didn't know you could talk."

"Oh, sure," replied the nag. "After all, I haven't been a truck horse all my life. I once came in 3rd in the Derby."

"Well, I'm a son of a gun," muttered the souse, moving off with a shake of his head.

But after he had proceeded a few steps he ran into the man who drove the milk wagon.

"Listen," said the drunk, "I can't get over that horse."

"I don't get you," said the driver.

"Why, he talks—he makes conversation."

"Oh, that? Sure, he can talk. But don't let him fill you with that Kentucky derby stuff. He's been a truck horse all his life."

THIS scene I observed around dusk on a blustery day:

A man of about 40, well dressed and wearing a derby, got out of a cab at Madison and 43rd. He looked at his watch, gazed up and down the street, finally began to tap his feet. It was evident that something was agitating him. He lit a cigarette, smoked just a couple of puffs, ground it beneath his foot.

Then a young woman came out of a building and said, "Hello." He quickly stepped close to her and asked:

"Have you got them?"

"Sure," she said. She smiled at him, a strange, peculiar sort of smile. From her handbag she drew a stack of letters, maybe a dozen in all. He flipped through them quickly, looked up and said, "Gee." It was more of a sigh than a word.

From his own pocket he took an envelope. It must have contained money, because I heard him say, "I hope you enjoy this. You've certainly earned it."

What else was said I couldn't hear, but presently the man lifted his hat and the girl went away. Then he got into a cab, and the last I saw of him he was tearing those letters into a thousand pieces.

WEARY of seeing British hits come to New York and turn into fiascos, one London manager has decided on a little plan that may save him some coin. He is Lee Ephraim and he is inviting the New York critics to go to London and review his new comedy. If the critics condemn it, he'll think twice before bringing it to Times Square.

One-Minute Test.

1. What is the capital of Turkey?
2. Do you know what instrument in a jazz band is often muted with a derby hat?
3. What city in the United States is called the "City of Monuments?"

Words of Wisdom.

Hints On Etiquette.

In acknowledging expressions of sympathy in time of trouble, close friends and relatives must be thanked with personal letters. If there are a great many not so close friends and acquaintances from whom expressions of condolence have been received, they may be acknowledged by an engraved card.

One-Minute Test Answers.

1. Angora, sometimes named Ankara.
2. The trumpet.
3. Baltimore.

BLACK ESTATE TO PAY $19,246 INHERITANCE TAX

County and State Each to Get Half Assessment; Estate Valued at $1,067,000.

Richland county and the state of Ohio will collect $19,246 in inheritance tax on a $1,067,601 estate left by the late Frank B. Black, founder of the Ohio Brass company, it had been determined today in probate court.

Half of the gross tax will go to the county and half to the state with the county's share to be divided equally between the general and bond retirement funds.

Stocks and securities make up $982,620 of the total estate, according to the inventory filed by Atty. William M. Weldon, counsel for the administrators. Accounts receivable amount to $47,026; real estate, $23,000, and bank deposits, $13,457, the inventory shows.

Inheritance tax will be collected on a net estate of $735,598, the amount left after $330,000 in claims are deducted. Principal claims against the estate are $169,400 in federal estate tax and $25,000 attorney fees. Cost of administration was listed at $7,500.

Farm Not Included.

Included in the securities belonging to the estate is $208,097 in Ohio Brass company stock, $65,258 in General Electric holdings, and $35,568 in Federal Farm Loan stock.

The real estate valuation of $23,000 does not include Raemelton farms, which were transferred to Mr. Black's three sons shortly before he died unexpectedly Dec. 19, 1937, while riding on his farm southwest of the city.

The estate was left to the sons, Robert B. Black, Donald S. Black and Roger A. Black, and the widow, Mrs. Jessie B. Black.

It was appraised by William A. Springer, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio Brass company; Charles W. Fuchs, assistant cashier of the Citizens National Bank and Trust company, and D. G. Ogden, assistant auditor at the Ohio Brass company.

The inventory filed for determination of inheritance tax states that net value of the estate may be reduced if a suit now pending in common pleas court to collect additional tax against the estate is successful.

Filed last spring by Michael Hallabrin, Mansfield, the action contends that personal tax returns on the estate were incomplete from 1926 to 1930.

$4,000 STILL DUE ON WATER BILLS

East Side Collection Period to Close Tomorrow Noon.

With approximately 87 per cent of the $29,000 east side water and sewer rental billing paid, the municipal water department is scheduled to close the last half 1938 collection tomorrow noon, Fred A. Lingafelter, secretary of the water, sewer and garbage departments, announced today.

Lingafelter said that the collection to date totalled approximately $25,000. He warned that after Saturday unpaid accounts would be assessed the regular 10 per cent penalty for delinquency.

The collection period was to have closed last Saturday but was extended one week.

GOES TO PRISON FOR KILLING SON

Father Sentenced After Admitting Slapping Baby to Death.

CHICAGO—(INS)—Pleading guilty to manslaughter, a young father who slapped his baby son to death today began serving a one to 14 year prison term.

The man is Robert Koch, 24, who had confessed to police that he struck the four-month-old child because its crying interfered with his hearing a radio program.

The judge asked if Koch's 22-year-old wife, Marcia, intended to forgive him.

"She doesn't want anything more to do with him," said the prosecutor.

"I don't blame her," said the judge.

ABE'S AT IT AGAIN, HE PHONES LONDON, LASHES CHAMBERLAIN

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND — Abe Pickus, who acts as president of the Majestic Oil Corp. here when he is not making long-distance telephone calls or traveling as America's ambassador without portfolio, placed a call for Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain at 6 a. m. today (11 a. m. English time).

"Chamberlain wouldn't talk but I got his secretary," reported Pickus who has talked with practically all the chanceries of Europe in the course of his unofficial diplomacy.

"I told him I have just got back from a survey of Ohio, Michigan, New York, Indiana, Missouri, Texas, Louisiana, West Virginia, and Arkansas and that more than 99 per cent of our people are against our supplying 54 per cent of the ammunition to kill people in China. They are also against Franco.

"I told him the American people don't believe Chamberlain is sincere. He is helping Mussolini and Hitler to murder the Spanish people. He is making a great mistake by co-operating with Mussolini to isolate France.

"Chamberlain's secretary said, 'I don't want to listen to it'."

Pickus, twice wounded in the World war, asked Chamberlain's secretary: "What do you mean you don't want to listen? In 1918 when you were nearly licked, I was over in France helping you fight'."

"He listened all right," Pickus added.

Pickus said he was going before congress to present results of his survey in which he stopped "in cities, in villages, restaurants and gas stations talking to everybody I came across."

"No kidding, I'm on the warpath," said Pickus, whose latest trans-Atlantic call cost him $72.

ARMS OFFICERS

Britain Takes Steps to Halt Series of Bomb Outrages.

LONDON—(AP)—Great Britain gave guns to her usually unarmed police today to strengthen the guard against terrorists who for five days have touched off bombs at power and water supply centers.

An explosion at the rear of the Tralee, Ireland, hotel where slept 25-year-old Frank Chamberlain, only son of the prime minister, led to the almost unprecedented order for city and county peace officers in the British isles to strap guns beside their traditional blackjacks.

Police blame the king-hating Irish Republican army for the terrorism and today 15,008 armed regulars and reserves of the Royal Ulster constabulary patrolled the northern Ireland district where the premier's son was presumed to have been an intended victim of the hotel blast. He was, however, unharmed.

WARNS FRANCE ON AID IN SPAIN

Italy Says She'll Increase Force If French Intervene.

LONDON —(INS)— An emphatic warning that Italy will more than match any French intervention in the Spanish war has been delivered to Britain by the Italian government, it was revealed today.

International News Service learned that when Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano received British Ambassador Lord Perth, Wednesday evening, he made plain the Italian position on this matter.

If reports regarding the possibility of France sending troops to aid the Spanish government ever should materialize, Ciano declared, Italy will immediately dispatch an overwhelmingly superior force to the aid of the Insurgents.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 38 to 52), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells.

Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vivacity to enjoy life and assist calming jittery nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life.

EXHAUST CLUES IN KIDNAP CASE

Police 'Stumped' on Girl's Story She Was Forced Into Car Here.

With all clues virtually exhausted in the week-old alleged kidnaping of 22-year-old Eleanore Wright, indications were today that the case would go into the police department "unsolved" files.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates admitted today that he was "stumped" on the story told by the girl of how she was forced into a "big black" sedan at South Main and Second streets early last Friday evening and taken to near Bellville by two men where she finally escaped.

The chief said that virtually all clues had been tracked down and several discrepancies found in the girl's story.

He said that it had been definitely established that she had appeared at a farmer's home on the Little Washington road where she obtained a ride to Lucas and thence to Mansfield.

Questioned late yesterday, the girl told the chief she would be unable to identify either the car that she claims she had ridden in or the two men whom she alleges kidnaped her.

LOOK FOR AX

Aid for Aged Employes Expect More Dismissals.

Six employes in the aid for aged office in Richland county expected the Republican administration's economy ax to fall again today following the dismissal of Floyd Downend, Shiloh, one of the county investigators.

Downend, who has been in the office for four years, was one of the 18 mortuary visitors in the state who were dismissed yesterday as Gov. John W. Bricker's economy wave reached into the aid for aged division.

Downend was to leave office today. He had received a salary of $1,800 a year as investigator of funeral expenses of old age pensioners.

M. W. Conley, manager of the office here, said he had received no notice today of further dismissals, but added that he "would not be surprised" if other dismissals were ordered. There are five investigators and clerks in the office besides Conley.

PROTEST SPEECH

Cleveland Organizations Oppose Appearance of Browder.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The scheduled appearance on Cleveland public hall lecture platform Sunday of Earl Browder, secretary of the Communist party in the United States, today met with a storm of protest.

Browder is listed as the principal speaker at a "people's unity rally." The protests against Browder's appearance came from individuals, fraternal and religious organizations.

TRUCKS DITCHED IN '42 MISHAPS

Drivers Escape, Vehicles Damaged In Two Accidents.

Two minor truck accidents in the vicinity of Mansfield were reported today by state highway patrolmen.

A truck, loaded with pickles and driven by Roy W. Martin of Burbank, O., ran off the road early today about three miles northeast of the city at the new cut-off on U. S. route 42. Martin told Patrolman C. B. Tieben that he had parked along the highway to sleep, and when he awoke the truck was in a ditch.

A truck loaded with auto tires and driven by Terry King of Birmingham, Ala., turned over on its side yesterday about six miles south of Mansfield on route 42. Neither driver was injured.

CROAK CHOSEN TO HEAD GROTTO

Councilman Succeeds Hughes as Monarch; Other Posts Filled at Election.

Arthur L. Croak was elected new monarch as Baku Grotto named officers for the year last night at Grotto hall He succeeds Ralph A. Hughes.

Other officers chosen are Howard Schuck, chief justice; Frank May, master of ceremonies, Harry Frick, venerable prophet, and John Conrad, marshal.

Croak, a member of city council from the Sixth ward, last fall retired as maintenance supervisor of the Western Union Telegraph company after serving in that capacity for 30 years During the past year he has been chief justice of the Grotto

The new officers were installed following the election by W. G. McCready, past monarch. Lunch was served following the meeting and a program of entertainment was presented About 125 members of the order from Mansfield, Ashland, Galion, Crestline and Shelby attended the meeting program, which embraces the four bills, would be "helpful" if the city was able to "stretch a point."

"The program has great beneficial possibilities in general," Kelley said, "particularly in the item of intangible tax receipts

This item alone, the auditor said, "might" provide the necessary amount to match state funds for relief The others would not create a sufficient amount to raise approximately $50 000, which Mansfield would need to finance an estimated $100,000 relief load for 1939.

Kelley said that the city had derived $60,000 from this source, but of that amount $27,000 had gone into the city's general fund for operating purposes The balance was for the retirement of general bonds and police and fire pensions

Kelley pointed out that the receipts, based on 1938 business would "be down" this year but it would "probably" be of an amount sufficient to raise the funds necessary for matching purposes

He added that auto registration fees now earmarked specifically for street and highway maintenance, would hardly be diverted here because Mansfield police department has no traffic enforcement division

It might be possible, he said, that council could designate a certain number of patrolmen for traffic enforcement and in that case a part of the fees might be used to bolster the general fund The question in this case, Kelley explained, would undoubtedly rest on an interpretation of what might be considered traffic enforcement costs

100, SHE BEGAN LIFE ON COFFEE

good. I remember little things the best. I can remember the hollyhocks that mother planted at our cabin door better than I can remember how excited folks were when Gen. Zachary Taylor defeated Santa Ana at Buena Vista during the Mexican war. And my! what a fuss there was when the play-actor shot Mr. Lincoln. That was five years after I was married. Seems like the farther away things are, the better I can remember 'em"

When the writer suggested that on Mrs Beasore's 101st birthday she would come again to talk to her, the aged woman waved blue-veined, fragile hands in protest.

"My goodness! don't go sayin' that I didn't want to live to be a hundred. No sense to it. No reason for it. People ought to die long before that. But I like to eat . . . I eat everything and anything. Guess that must be the coffee they fed me when I was a baby . . . Made me tough, I guess. When I hear women talk about how carefully they feed their babies nowadays, it sets me to laughing. I tell 'em 'give it black coffee for two weeks—and it'll live to be a hundred'" She chuckled at her own humor.

Mrs Beasore's parents came into Ohio when the state was an infant, when Richland county was still a wilderness. Her father, Henry Sackman, came with his parents from Pennsylvania by wagon train probably soon after the county was surveyed, and her mother Susanna Ernsberger was from southern Ohio

The Zimmer and Copus massacres of 1812 were tales that were told frequently in the cabins of the later settlers, and Mary Sackman, as a little girl, frequently talked to settlers who had known Johnny Appleseed. Years afterward, she heard the story of the Copus murder by Indians from one of the members of the family—Sally Copus Vail.

Of the six brothers and sisters, one remains, Mrs. Margaret France, 92, of Cincinnati Mrs. Beasore's two sons, Courtney and Charles are dead, but she has two grandchildren living, nine great grandchildren and three great-great grandchildren

Living in the home with her—which has sheltered six generations of the family—is a daughter-in-law, Mrs Cora Beasore; the latter's daughter, Mrs. Florence Mowers, and Mrs. Mowers' two sons and their wives, and her daughter and the latter's husband. George Beasore, south of Lucas, is the other grandchild of the centenarian.

There will be no celebration for Mrs. Beasore today because her health will not permit it. But there was one interesting birthday gift. It was the announcement of another great-great grandchild The baby a girl, was born to Mr and Mrs James McCready of near Bellville last Saturday, but they decided not to tell Great-great-grandmother Beasore until today jective of the Insurgent Catalan offensive. The rebel advance forces are within about 30 miles of Barcelona but have been turned back by strong Loyalist resistance in the last few days.

Meanwhile nationalist troops advancing on the central Catalan sector captured the town of Calaf, northwest of Igualada.

The Nationalists had been striking at Calaf for several days because of its importance to the defense of Igualada. It controls highways which will be followed in an attempt to encircle Barcelona, cutting the capital off from the French frontier.

Nationalists announced that they were within 30 miles of Barcelona at several points, but Igualada was still held by powerful Loyalist forces as the immediate key to the central advance.

Nationalists advances claimed today, included occupation of the Vertice and Agulagrosa Heights dominating highways leading north and south from Igualada and occupation of Vertice, Cova, and Frencas, north of the Loyalist main defenses near Vendrell on the southern sector.

Bucyrian Never Late For Work in 20 Years

BUCYRUS — Edward F. Brinkman, employe in the store department in the New York Central yards for 20 years, was retired this week, with a record of never being late for work and never having been laid off.

Mr. Brinkman, a former Holmes township farmer and county commissioner, lives at 215 East Liberty street with his wife and daughter, Miss Lela Brinkman, teacher at Crawford school. He has another daughter, Mrs. Paul Yaussy, of northeast of Bucyrus, and a son, Rev. Robert Brinkman, executive in the council of the clinical training of theological students in the east.

Perrysville

ONE YEAR OLD

According to Lowell Ruggles, Perrysville Boy Scout leader, the Scouts of Perrysville have just celebrated their first anniversary as an organization.

With approximately 15 boys who are either in the third or second class Scout work, Ruggles reports that the troop has made rapid progress in the past year.

A banquet to be held early in March is being arranged. The Scouts expect to raise sufficient funds to purchase new uniforms.

Six new Scouts are at present working on their tenderfoot test which will permit them to become full-fledged members of the organization. They are: Max Wendling, Charles Hiner, Ted Wilson, Dana DeLong, Harold Sprang and Jack Butler.

ENTERTAINS CLASS

Mrs. Howard Fulton entertained the Beginners' Sunday schol class of the Methodist church, of which she is instructor, at a party given at her home Thursday evening.

Approximately 15 boys and girls were present. After games and contests, Mrs. Fulton served lunch.

OBSERVE BIRTHDAYS

Miss Audrey Frank and Dick Pollard were the surprised guests of honor at a party in commemoration of their birthday anniversaries on Thursday.

Students of the freshman class gathered at the home of Mrs. Olive Pollard where everyone spent a pleasant evening.

The girls of the class presented Miss Frank with a variety of gifts, while Dick was the recipient of gifts given him by the boys of his class. Later in the evening Mrs. Pollard served lunch.

ORGANIZE CLUB

Mrs. Charlotte Mohr was hostess to a new organization of Perrysville women which will meet every second Wednesday evening for the purpose of knitting and furthering other educational interests.

Those who have joined the club are Miss Lois Deardorff, Miss Carolyn Horn, Miss Janet Schutzberg, all Perrysville school instructors, Mrs. Harold Frank and Mrs. David Macklem.

Mrs. Mohr, Mrs. Frank and Mrs. Macklem will alternate as hostesses throughout the year, with the Misses Deardorff, Horn and Schutzberg as associate hostesses.

START DRIVE

The seed sale which the Senior class launched Monday is well on the way to being a success, according to Miss Carolyn Horn, senior adviser. The proceeds of the trip will help in the "On to Washington" campaign which the Seniors are supporting.

AN OLD-FASHIONED KITCHEN of twenty or more years ago looks odd indeed in contrast to the modern kitchens of today. You'll see one of these early 1900 kitchens depicted at the Food Institute and . . .

LIKE MAGIC, you'll see it become a lovely modern kitchen right before your eyes. It's really very easy to convert an out-moded kitchen into a modern unit with new beauty and convenience, like this model all-gas kitchen of the Food Institute.

VISUAL COOKING is the new and fascinating method of oven cooking made possible by the Tappan "Visualite" Oven. See this newest cooking innovation demonstrated at the Food Institute.

Pictured here are a few of the highlights of the 1939 edition of the Gasco Food Institute. You'll see many, many other interesting and informative features during the dramatic three-day program. This outstanding cooking event is brought to Mansfield through the co-operation of local merchants, The News-Journal and The Gas Company. The program begins Tuesday, January 24 at the Ohio Theater. You'll not want to miss any of the three sessions.

MAN AT WORK IN THE KITCHEN may be something approaching utopia. However, many husbands get a "kick" out of cooking their own favorite he-man dishes. You'll see this done at the novel second-day program of the Gasco Food Institute entitled "Utopia". It's a program of unusual interest to both men and women.

GAS DOESN'T COST . . . IT PAYS!

Tire Builder Found Vendol Best To Build Himself

Mansfield employee was miserable from indigestion, gas, sour stomach, acid risings, and other disorders due to constipation. Declares Vendol gave marvelous relief.

MR. GEORGE E. "Slim" PARKER

If your bowels are sluggish, causing you to suffer with indigestion a sour gassy stomach, nervousness poor sleep heartburn dizziness bad breath, backaches sore aching muscles and other attendant troubles, don't delay giving Vendol a chance to help you Come to Central Drug Store ask for the Vendol Man just as hundreds of local people are doing and learn what this great Root Herb and Alkaline medicine has done for so many others who suffered exactly as you may be suffering now Vendol may be able to help you as it did Mr. George E Parker residing at 46 N Adam St popular American Legion member and a Tire Builder at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber Co., who says

"Vendol has proven a blessing to me Before taking it I'd been so badly constipated for years and my other suffering due to it became so bad that I almost thought I'd never find relief I had a poor appetite and what little I did eat distressed me with indigestion, sourness, acid-risings cramps, nausea, gas and shortness of breath I had no strength or energy from this lack of nourishment yet I couldn't sleep restfully at night because of the frayed condition of my nerves, and to make matters worse, I suffered all too often with staggering dizzy spells and spots before my eyes.

"From the quick relief I got from Vendol you might have thought it was made just for my particular use The first few doses brought the most wonderful relief from constipation I'd ever had in my life. Now I have a healthy appetite and eat whatever I please without suffering afterwards, and with this nourishment I have strength and energy to spare My nerves are quiet and calm and let me sleep like a baby and I've almost forgotten what it's like to suffer with dizziness or spots before the eyes Actually, I never dreamed I could feel so good again, and all the credit goes to Vendol. This is one medicine I can heartily recommend to all who suffer like I used to"

You'll never know how much good this grand medicine made from Nature's Roots and Herbs with Alkalines added, can do for you till you give it a chance. It is sold by all leading druggists and the Vendol Man is daily at Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & Fourth Sts., to explain all about it. Don't delay seeing him.

Monster Is Revived.

Opening at the Ohio tomorrow and possibly running for the week will be "Son of Frankenstein," which of course is a sequal to one of the first great "horror" thrillers on the screen. The story takes up 25 years after the death of the scientist, Frankenstein, who had created a great monster which in the end destroyed him. The son (Basil Rathbone) arrives at the ancestral castle to find the village irate over six mysterious murders, and once more the story brings the monster to life. Boris Karloff dons his old makeup as the monster, Bela Lugosi is the grave robber with the broken neck and Josephine Hutchinson is the baron's wife.

Make-Believe.

There isn't a uniform nor a chorus ensemble in "The Girl Downstairs," but there is laughter, romance and some music. It is the kind of a story that is told with tongue-in-cheek, and while it may never happen in real life, it's fun in the movies. Fanchot Tone and Franciska Gaal are starred. This is one of two first run features at the Madison, the second being "Charlie Chan in Honolulu" with Sidney Toler.

Gene Autry at Ritz.

A Gene Autry picture is an event to followers of western films and the current one at the Ritz gives him an entertaining story as well as several new songs. He finds his hands full when he is made administrator of an estate which includes a big non-paying ranch and a girl who whizzes through little towns in big cars. Carol Hughes is the girl. A mystery film, "Arsene Lupin Returns," with Melvyn Douglas, Virginia Bruce and Warren William is also shown.

"Frontier Scout."

Wild Bill Hickok, a one-time bad man who later turned law enforcement officer in the days of the Indian wars in the west, is brought to the screen in "Frontier Scout" at the Majestic. In this Western George Houston plays the role that Gary Cooper had in "The Plainsman." Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney are the top stars of "Thoroughbreds Don't Cry," which shares program honors with the Western film.

Two-Fisted Action.

Two-fisted action in a racket-ridden city provides thrills in "Crime Takes a Holiday," which is being shown at the Park. Jack Holt, prosecuting attorney, tangles with the vice and racket leaders. The story of a great actress forced into obscurity by scandal is told in "Evergreen," the second feature, which has Jessie Matthews and Sonnie Hale, English stars.

Beauty a Good Student, Too

So good a student is Dorothy Bergquist, junior at Wittenberg college, Springfield, O., that the faculty committee has permitted her to follow the honor system. That is, Dorothy will follow her studies in journalism without regular recitation periods and without regular assignments. She will make periodical reports.

TWO CHURCHES NAMED IN WILL

Sharon Township Woman Leaves Rest of Property to 2 Daughters.

Bequests of $50 each were made to the Catholic church at New Washington and the Most Pure Heart of Mary church at Shelby in the will of Mrs. Mary Riedy, late of Sharon township, which had been filed today in probate court.

Mrs. Riedy also left $200 for masses, half for the New Washington church and the remainder for the Most Pure Heart of Mary church in Shelby.

The rest of her property was left to two daughters, Cora A. Sheridan and Rose M. Sheridan, whom she nominated as executrices of her estate.

BIRTHDAY WRONG 58 YEARS

CLEVELAND— (U.P.) —For 58 years County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan has been celebrating his birthday on the wrong date—March 5. "A relative said he thought that was wrong, so I looked it up," he said "and sure enough I was born March 3. I guess maybe the fact that I was one of 13 children had something to do with the confusion."

NEW NOVEL HAS AUTO INDUSTRY AS BACKGROUND

'F. O. B. Detroit,' Addition to Library Shelves, Story of Girl and Two Men.

Using the roar of a tremendous modern industrial plant as a background for the telling of a dramatic story, Wessel Smitter's "F. O. B. Detroit" is the story of a girl and two men in an automobile town where the men's emotions are subject to the dictation of mammoth machines.

The book is one of several new fiction volumes on display at the library and which go into circulation Monday. Russ, an ambitious young fellow fresh from a lumber, and Benny, his partner, find their fine plans for the future upset when Russ marries Rita, a taxi-dancer. The book provides a rather remarkable commentary on one phase of life.

The second part of Gunnar Gunnarsson's cycle, "Church On The Hill" has recently been published under the title of "The Night and the Dream." (The first book of the cycle was "Ships In The Sky.") The second volume tells of the later childhood and adolescence of Uggi Greipson at the farm in far off Iceland.

"Three Harbors," by Van Wyck Mason is an authentic chronicle revealing a fascinating phase of the American Revolution previously ignored The three harbors are Boston, Norfolk and Bermuda, and the book shows the important part played in our early history by the people of the latter port

"I Was Christabel" by Christine Whiting Parmenter is the story of New England life created out of the author's recollections of her own happy youth and childhood

Other fiction this week is "Too Young To Marry" by Banning, "Prelude of Love," Foldes; "Windy Range," Ogden; and "Murder at the Mike," Saxby.

Byrd Writes of Lonely Vigil.

"Alone" by Richard E. Byrd tells the story of Commander Byrd's lonely five months vigil at the South Pole. The pages of his journal, included in this book reveal the terrible suffering he underwent as well as the great pleasure he found in the wonders of nature. The unusual mechanical difficulties encountered at the very low temperature show the amazing courage and fortitude on the part of these men who overcame them.

"Money to Burn," by Horace Coon tells the story of millions of dollars poured into gigantic charity trusts by American millionaires. The function of these trusts in the social, economic and educational system is discussed.

"A New Deal For Youth" by Betty and Ernest K. Lindley reports what the N. Y A. has done in the past three years. The authors traveled all over the country observing the work of the National Youth Administration projects and talking with the young people and the supervisors.

"Soilless Growth of Plants" by Carleton Ellis and Miller Swaney explains the use of nutrient solutions, water, sand and cinders for soilless growth. The book is illustrated with pictures and diagrams.

Other non-fiction: "Inner World of Man" by Wickes, "Story of Psychic Science," Carrington; "My Vocation" by eminent Americans; "Patterns of Survival" by Bradley; "Biology in America," Young, "Behold Our Land," Lord; "Nation's Forests," Dupuy; "Cork," Faubel, "Wood Finishing: Plain and Decorative," Vanderwalker; "Interior Wall Decoration," Vanderwalker; "House Painting Methods with Brush and Spray Gun," Vanderwalker; "Old Yukon; Tales-Trails-and-Trials," Wickersham; "Co-operatives in America: Their past, Present and Future," Cowling; "How to Get Things Done," Seabury; and "Music Is My Faith," Mannes.

GRIDDLE CAKES

2 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 egg, well beaten
1½ cups milk
¼ cup Spry, melted

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Combine beaten egg, milk and Spry. Turn liquids into dry ingredients and stir gently until blended.

Drop by spoonfuls on hot griddle greased with Spry. When cakes puff and bubble, turn once and brown on other side. Turn only once. Serve with maple syrup. Makes 18—but they'll disappear fast! 37 Aboard Ship Broken In Two By Gale Head for Port

TINY VESSEL FIGHTS WAVES, RESCUES CREW

Seamen Cling to Wreckage of Ship Till Help Arrives; Storms Rage on.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—Miraculously rescued when their tanker was broken in two by mountainous waves on the storm-tossed North Atlantic, 37 members of the crew of the 9,827-ton Norwegian oil tanker, the Jaguar, were enroute to London today aboard the rescue ship, the Duala, a tiny freighter.

By some fortunate circumstance, the Duala apparently was not far away from the Jaguar, bearing oil from Mexico to Europe when it was broken in two in mid-Atlantic. After a night of terror, a life boat crew from the Duala rescued seven men from the bobbing forepart of the ship and 30 clinging to the after part.

70-Mile Wind.

Winds of 70-mile or more an hour speed lashed the mighty Atlantic into an unmanageable fury that periled all shipping.

The Italian liner, Vulcania, docked in New York with two passengers injured, windows broken and dramtic tales of the battle waged against the sea.

Off Nova Scotia, a coast guard cutter, the Cayuga, won a 28-hour battle against tremendous seas and biting snow to reach the Black Diamond freighter, the Black Condor, helpless without a propellor. As soon as calmer weather descends on the ocean, the Cayuga will tow the crippled ship to port.

In Nantucket sound, the grounded Canadian schooner, the Laura Annie Barnes, was abandoned by James L. Publicover. He informed his agents at Halifax the gear was not worth salvaging.

Reports concerning the Jaguar were meager and since no missing men were reported it was assumed all hands were taken off safely. According to the message relayed to Mackey radio by the American freighter, New Orleans, the tanker broke in two late Wednesday night after a battle of hours against the storm. It could not be immediately learned whether the oil cargo was destined for Germany.

$200 Monthly For Ohioans Over 50 Proposed by Coxey

MASSILLON—(AP)—A plan to give every Ohioan over 50 years of age a $200-a-month pension has been proposed by Jacob S. Coxey, whose "army" of jobless marched on Washington in 1893.

Coxey, addressing a service club yesterday, said:

"A foundation guarantee trust fund of $1,000,000,000 would be established to cover warrants for the $200-a-month pensions, payable in advance on the first of each month.

"The plan would work on a pay-as-you-go basis by authorizing a three, and not to exceed six per cent gross transaction tax on all business transactions."

Coxey said his program also would give expectant mothers $400, $500 death benefit for all residents of the state and $200 a month to persons physically or mentally incapacitated.

Coxey, contending the plan could be put into effect through a state constitutional amendment, said his transaction tax would provide sufficient revenue to eliminate all other state taxes.

STOUGH NAMED TO CREDIT POST

Richland Man Re-elected by Production Credit Group.

W. E. Stough, Springfield township, and C. E. Weikel of Wayne county, were re-elected directors of the Ashland Production Credit association yesterday at the organization's annual meeting at Ashland. They will serve three-year terms. Stough was president of the firm last year.

H. G. Olin, Ashland, secretary of the association, reported loans totaling $558,946 last year and net earnings of $4,509.

Speakers at yesterday's session were George B. Ganyard, Richland county agricultural agent; Mrs. M. V. Funk, secretary of the Muskingum County National Farm Loan association, and F. L. Kerr, vice president of the Production Credit corporation of Louisville, Ky.

More than 700 farm operators and members of their families attended the meeting.

White House Shuns Blame for Slash In WPA

Up and Down THE STREET

Viewing motion pictures of a football game at a private showing at a Mansfield club the other night, the audience was impressed by the fact that both teams used lefthanded punters and forward passers. They thought this was quite unusual. But after the reel was unwound, the oddity was solved. The film had merely been put into the projector the wrong way—and by a veteran theater operator, too.

If Glenn Pore, city mail carrier, seemed a little sleepy today while making his mail deliveries, it wasn't because he was up late last night. It was because he got up too early this morning. Pore usually reports at 6 a. m., but today he surprised the night force at the postoffice by arriving at 4 a. m., two hours early. When he found out he had reported to work two hours early, he guessed his clock at home "must have been a little fast."

It was moving day yesterday in Central park. An eight-year-old maple tree, more than 3 feet tall, was moved from the north side of the park to the east side to replace on old tree which was removed two weeks ago. The tree was transplanted under the supervision of Jacob Rahm, parks superintendent, who said there were too many trees north of the fountain to permit them to attain proper shape.

HEARING SET

Court to Rule on Appeal of Ashlander's Bondsmen.

ASHLAND — Ashland county commissioners were notified today by attorneys for the American Surety and New York Casualty companies that the hearing on the appeal to be relieved from further liabilities in the bond of H. O. Faber, Ashland county treasurer, will be heard in the common pleas court Tuesday, Jan. 31.

The appeal was filed today with a transcript of the hearings held by commissioners with representatives of the companies. The commissioners denied a petition asking the companies' release from the bond at the hearings which ended last week. The total bond is $40,000. It was stated in the application seeking the release that the bonding firms had "reasonable proof" of the alleged shortages in the treasurer's office.

A separate investigation of the alleged shortages will come before the grand jury Monday.

HAMMER KILLER DIES ON GALLOWS

Canadian Hanged For Murdering Wife in "Perfect Crime."

MONTREAL, Que. —(INS)— His "perfect crime" a failure because he neglected to take the weather into account, Louis Viau, 44, died on the gallows of Bordeaux jail today for the hammer slaying of his wife 15 months ago.

Viau was convicted of killing his wife with a hammer and tossing her body into a city street from his car. The state charged that he hoped the death would be attributed to a hit and run driver.

The jury which convicted Viau witnessed his execution. He was pronounced dead and his body cut down 20 minutes after the trap was sprung.

GIRL-SHY EDDY TAKES A WIFE

Baritone on Honeymoon With Divorced Wife of Hollywood Movie Producer.

(By United Press)

LAS VEGAS—Nelson Eddy, romantic baritone of screen and concert hall and the former Mrs. Ann D. Franklin, of Beverly Hills, Cal., were on a honeymoon today.

They were married here yesterday by District Judge William E. Orr. Looking on approvingly was Eddy's mother, Mrs. Isabel K. Eddy, Doris Kenyon, the actress and singer, and Eddy's business manager, E. J. Osborne. They were the only witness.

Eddy gave his age as 37; his bride as 40. She divorced Sidney Franklin, the motion picture producer, six years ago, and is an accomplished musician.

It was Eddy's first marriage. Hollywood regarded him as a confirmed bachelor and his girl-shyneess added to the legend.

The newlyweds will take their honeymoon trouper fashion, on the road, as he begins soon his annual three-month concert tour.

Eddy, a native of Providence, R. I., was telephone operator and newspaper reporter before entering motion pictures.

HOLLYWOOD —(INS)— Clark Gable, filmdom's No. 1 he-man star, and the beautiful Carole Lombard will probably be married in April, it was learned today.

They can be married in six weeks, for Gable's estranged wife, Mrs. Ria Gable, left last night for an unannounced destination in Nevada where she plans to take up residence and secure a divorce.

RITES SATURDAY

Funeral of 11-Year-Old Girl to Be Held at Mt. Harmon Church.

Funeral services for Olga Mae Walker, 11, who died in General hospital Thursday, will be held at the Mt. Harmon Baptist church at 10 a. m. Saturday with Rev. A. J. McCrary, officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

The girl made her home with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Don Murphy, 71 Lewis avenue, who survive in addition to two brothers, Columbus and Robert; a sister, Dorothy, and another uncle, Howard McFadden, all of Mansfield.

THEY REMEMBER BIRTHDAY BALL, IT HELPS 'EM FIGHT PARALYSIS

"After the ball is over"—and we mean the annual president's ball—practically everyone forgets the work for the infantile paralysis victims, except the people who benefit from the fund.

After the Mansfielders dance at the Mansfield-Leland ballroom Saturday night and enjoy the floor show, they'll forget all about the fund that is being raised and its purpose—for another year.

But there are a number of youngsters in Mansfield, and a few adults, who will remember. For the fund raised by the ball will buy them crutches and corrective shoes and braces. One half of the net proceeds from the president's ball will go to the support of the national foundation, but the other half remains in Mansfield.

Four years ago $150 was kept in Mansfield and turned over to Dr. Charles Shafer to use in caring foor crippled children. Of this amount $73 was spent for a fracture frame at General hospital to straighten out small broken bones.

In 1937 the president's ball left $257 in Mansfield and all but $40 of this has been used for leg braces, splints, crutches and corrective shoes for children crippled by infantile paralysis. From the two years there is a balance of $117 which will be added to Mansfield's share of this year's proceeds. All of last year's funds went to help establish the national foundation.

A permanent committee of trustees will be set up in Mansfield to administer the fund each year, and it will be used for small projects, bridging the gap that is left after other organizations take care of the major projects—such as operations and an extended course of treatments.

City Solicitor Marion D. Ward, city chairman of the president's ball committee this year, said the committee would be set up immediately after the ball.

Tickets for the ball and the floor show are being sold throughout the city.

WIFE SEES AL

Capone Has Organic Disease, U. S. Prison Chief Says.

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Al Capone's wife visited the one-time Chicago gang czar in the government's new prison at Terminal island here last week, Director Edwin Lloyd said today.

Lloyd, who has declined all comment regarding Capone since the latter was transferred here recently from Alcatraz in San Francisco bay, made the disclosure during a conference with James V. Bennett of Washington, head of the federal bureau of prisons.

Bennett declined to discuss reasons for Capone's transfer and disposed of the convict's health with the statement:

"He is suffering from a physical organic disease, but his condition is not immediately serious. If it were, he would have been sent to the medical center of the federal bureau of prisons at Springfield, Mo."

FORMER ASHLAND WOMAN, 50, DIES

Mrs. Selecta Herman Stricken At Home In Detroit.

ASHLAND—Mrs. Selecta Masters Herman, 50, former Ashland resident, died Thursday morning in Detroit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Stannard.

Mrs. Herman spent most of her life in Ashland, but had made her home with her daughter in Detroit for the past 18 years. She was a member of the Ashland Methodist church.

Surviving besides her daughter, are a son, Frank P. Herman of Detroit, and three brothers, Frank and George Masters of Ashland and Fremont Masters of Polk.

The body will be returned here and funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Shaw funeral home with Rev. A. A. Hunter, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

HORSE INJURED IN TRUCK CRASH

Struck as Vehicles Graze Each Other Near Narrow Span.

One of four horses being transported by truck was slightly injured in a truck accident on Route 13 four miles south of Bellville Wednesday night.

The truck, driven by Andrew McCoy, Coshocton, had just come off a narrow bridge, when it was grazed by a C.C.C. freight truck, driven by John Guthrie, 122 South Foster street. One horse was bruised and cut about the head.

Highway Patrolman C. W. Cale said Guthrie told him he did not see the truck coming off the bridge because of its dim headlights.

LETTERS PLACE RESPONSIBILITY ON LAWMAKERS

Roosevelt's Secretary Sends Hundreds of Messages to Swing Public Sentiment.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The White House, it was learned today, has sent out hundreds of letters this week designed to place squarely on congress responsibility for any reduction in federal relief activities.

Amid senatorial talks of a compromise on a temporary winter relief fund, the letters—signed by Stephen Early, President Roosevelt's press secretary—have gone to persons who have written or telegraphed the president about the pending WPA appropriation bill.

Mr. Roosevelt asked for $875,000,000. The house chopped off $150,000,000. Some senators have advocated an even greater reduction.

Quotes From Message.

Early's letters have quoted a statement from the president's annual message that congress alone has the power to determine appropriations.

One letter, sent in response to a telegraphed protest to the slash, continued:

"The request of the president for an appropriation of $875,000,000 was based on continuing approximately 3,000,000 persons on work relief during the winter months, and decreasing that number to about 2,700,000 persons by June. If the congress should see fit to decrease the appropriation which the president has recommended, it is obvious that a very much larger number persons on relief will have to be discharged.

"I assure you that the needs of WPA are very close to the president's heart. I can say very truthfully that none of the numerous other problems of government receives more time nor more personal attention than the president now is giving this question."

The fact that the White House was sending out such letters was regarded by well-informed persons as another evidence of administration efforts to swing strong public support behind the president's relief request.

In the senate, administration forces opposed a compromise suggestion that congress vote $388,000,000 for the WPA for the next two months and then make another appropriation on the basis of spring business conditions.

GIVEN AWARDS

Three Westinghouse Employes Rewarded for Ideas.

Three employes of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company today won cash awards ranging from $53 to $300 for suggestions that would better production in their departments.

The company encourages employes to make suggestions each month which will improve the company's products or production. Harold K. Sellick, 343 West Fourth street, was awarded $300 for a suggestion in insulation which will improve range cookers.

P. E. McIntire, 54 Augustine avenue, also in the inspection department, won $102 for a suggestion covering refrigeration production; while G. L. Hisey will get an award of $53 for his suggestion concerning range thermostats.

Five other employes won small cash awards for suggestions. They were W. J. Fisher, 338 Fourth avenue; Mary Armentrout, 123 South Adams street; Alex Davis, 14 Clairmont avenue; Mike Carmel, 71 Myers avenue, and E. R. Sutton, 231 South Franklin.

Proposed Lottery In New York Reminds Pegler That All Glitter Is Not Gold

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—I am indebted to the editorial column of the New York Daily News—which, in turn, acknowledges a debt to State Senator Phelps Phelps—for the information that the American territory of Puerto Rico has been running a legal public lottery under government sponsorship these last five years, which will be a surprise to most of us. So now Phelps, to call him breezily by his first name, is planning to introduce a lottery bill in Albany.

The News thinks a state lottery would be a good thing and urges New York to get the jump on the other states, thus anticipating that the others would be forced to start drawings of their own in self-defense.

In some states the legislatures would even pass laws permitting every little jerk town to run its own lottery, and pretty soon the country would be just lottery crazy. A dream book economist could figure out whether this business would starve itself by spreading the money too thin or pauperize the whole people by skimming their money into various public treasuries at the rate of about 25 per cent at every turn of the wheel.

Maybe, in the latter case, everybody could quit work and live on the government.

Anyway, the states have their rights, and anyone who admits that he undoubtedly would play lottery himself has a lot of nerve to insist that lotteries should not be permitted because the poor might do the same.

I blow cold on lotteries. France had one which finally petered out a short time ago, apparently for lack of fresh money.

And no other country has done much good with a lottery except the Irish Free State, which drags about $21,000,000 a year out of this country, which has been its best foreign customer since the British silenced the Dublin sweep out of their press in self-protection.

You can hear dizzy estimates of hundreds of millions that Americans spend for Irish tickets, but my figure is based on the amount of prizes won here multiplied by the number of drawings per year. Winnings have a definite proportion to total investments. You have to allow something for the traffic in phony tickets, and in that phase you can really dream because nobody knows any more than you do.

This country could not expect to draw any fresh money from abroad, but at the start the pioneer lottery states would bleed non-lottery states, which would be like doing a transfusion from the right arm to the left. Nevertheless, for a while there would be a nice yield to the pioneers, and it is a wonder that Nevada, the taxless state where there ain't no Ten Commandments but only six or seven, hasn't moved in ere now.

Gambling figures in this country, beyond the official reports on mutuel betting in 16 states, are always hysterical.

Imaginative cops and prosecutors pinch a perfumed bum with a Michigan bankroll for selling policy and announce they have smashed another of those rings doing a business of $300,000,000 a year.

And we go for that when a little work on the back of an envelope would demonstrate that a nickel-and-dime racket operating mostly in slum neighborhoods, mostly colored, is only a nickel-and-dime racket, no matter what size head you put over the story.

When Tom Dewey had Jimmy Hines over a barrel in Ferd Pecora's court the graft that he was trying to prove would have been only beer money at most, and this was supposed to be the champion racket of them all—the Dutch Schultz store.

The poolroom and handbook play on the races also is supposed to run into hundreds of millions, but the total legal business in the 16 mutuel states in 1938, where a man could belly up to the counter and buy a bet in clear, ringing tones, was only $276,333,331.

This, incidentally, included a large part of the out-patient business which is wired to the tracks. It was a gain of about $19,000,000 over 1935, the last previous year on which I have official figures, and, like the 1935 totals, excludes the take in Louisiana, where the politicians don't trouble the people with financial details, and in New York, where the legislature turned the business over to the bookmakers, who make no returns.

How much do you want to add for Louisiana and New York? Help yourself; it's free. A hundred million? All right, then say a total handle of $376,333,331 for 18 states, including New York, in which people are permitted, even encouraged, to bet openly.

* * *

About a third of a billion this nation of cigar store sports bet in the wide open market last year, and will the gentleman who was predicting an annual profit of a billion on an annual handle of ten billion in a national government lottery just try that on for size?

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—During this new year hundreds of movie players will get their names, maybe their pictures, in the papers. Quite a few hundred more would like to know how to get their names, and their pictures, in the papers. For the benefit of the latter, herewith are our Helpful Hints for '39:

1. Get yourself a feud.

There is nothing quite like a good feud to help along a career. Where would J. MacDonald and N. Eddy be, I ask you, if they didn't have a feud? Where would C. McCarthy and W. C. Fields be if they didn't loathe each other?

2. Get yourself a romance.

Aw, don't be silly. You don't have to MARRY the guy (gal) All you have to do is be seen with him (her). Go steady — then when that "angle" wears thin, ditch him (her), and get yourself a new grand passion. If you mix 'em up, all the better.

3. Get yourself a husband (wife).

This is recommended only as a last resort. When you take the fatal (at least temporarily fatal) plunge, be sure to keep it quiet—but notify your publicity guide so the photogs at Yuma can be waiting. Better still, slip away and don't tell a soul definitely; just hint at it, and deny everything.

4. Get yourself a divorce.

This is always sure-fire. Better, of course, if you can ditch the spouse immediately on return from Yuma, but good any time. Gets more attention if, for months before you file the papers, you can both "deny rift."

5. Get yourself a wardrobe.

Be best-dressed woman (man) in Hollywood. (Don't mind if, simultaneously, there are two dozen other claimants to title.) If you're alert, you can always wear something a little nuttier than the next girl (guy).

6. Sue and get sued.

You are referred to Miss C. Bennett for details.

7. Give (and go to) parties.

Everybody loves a party. But be wary lest people love your parties more than they love you.

8. Have a baby.

But ponder this step long before taking it. There is something so irrevocable about a baby.

9. Get yourself a "past."

Careful, here, though. Remember there's a production code—and apply it to your private life for safety.

10. Be a superlative.

I mean be the grandest (swellest snarkiest) guy in town—or the meanest (naughtiest, spitefulest, most hard-hearted) dame. No half-way measures. No mediocrities, no normalcy.

11. Last (but this is scarcely worth considering) just work like HELL, live quietly at home, study your art, take care of yourself and act like an ordinary, pleasant human being.

(And see what it gets you!)

Englishman Calls Our Girls Dowdy

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Among other American shortcomings, Charles Graves, London newspaper man, found our American debutante "out to please." What was the poor dear man looking for? Massed sulks or British complacency? Also, he found our girls had poor complexions, and dowdy clothes.

Even the upper class English women, whom Mr. Graves may have observed at Ascot, Covent Garden or the theater (imagine a newspaper man being invited to Buckingham Palace in his native England!) are dressed — well, you've only to look at the English illustrated weeklies to discover how!

But after all, the Daily Mail's correspondent may have just been looking for a few extra shillings in his Daily Mail pay envelope when he wrote about the White House party. His readers at home are very likely still smarting from Margaret Halsey's "With Malice Toward Some."

The most gloriously absurd attempt to sell us caricatures of ourselves was perpetrated a few years ago by an Englishman—Joad I believe was his name—who wrote a book about Americans, called "The Babbitt Warren," which illustrated English thrift, since he had never been in the United States before he wrote the book.

The writer happened to be in school in England at an age conspicuous for a greater courage than the angels, and heard an old dowager with a double mezzanine figure say: that "Americans never really got into the best English society." With much pleasure, I reminded her that at that time five American women were English duchesses, and that if Americans were not received in the best British circles at least their money was, and with prayerful gratitude!

My Neighbor Says:

The flowered paper window shades sold in the household department of many stores make excellent shelf and drawer linings. Select gayly colored shades for linen closet and bureaus, darker ones for kitchen drawers and cupboards. The window shade paper is tough and absorbent and outwears the ordinary shelf paper many times over. It is easily cut to measure as the patterns are usually repeated.

In baking cake, the richer the cake the slower the heat should be. If you have too slow a heat the cake will rise, then fall, and the cake will be heavy. If too hot the outside bakes at the start and as the heat reaches the center the expansion of the mixture causes it to force its way through and then bursts the cake.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Mary went on to the end of her dance, and for an instant after her last graceful movement, Noel and I gave her the same tribute of silence that we, with Dicky, had accorded her at the close of her rehearsal of her role. Then Noel sprang forward and swept her scantily-clad figure into his arms.

"I was a jealous fool, sweetheart," he murmured, regardless of my presence. "But now I realize how your wonderful skill makes everybody forget every other detail. And I know, too, that you could not dance that in anything else save that costume. Will you forgive your boy and love him again?"

"Silly!" Mary scolded softly, her cheek against his. "Don't you suppose I knew?"

"You always know what I'm thinking or going to think better than I know myself," Noel declared fatuously. Then with an evident desire to atone for his former rudeness, he turned to me.

"I am afraid I am interrupting your rehearsal," he said. "Don't you want Mary to go over those lines which have to be ironed out?"

"Not now," I answered. "The dance took the place of the ironing out of the lines. I wanted you to see it and judge what would be your father's reaction to it."

"He can have only one," Philip Veritzen's son averred stoutly. "He'll be crazy over it, even if he—"

He stopped short and looked at Mary in such patent embarrassment that she promptly threw her arms about his neck and kissed him warmly.

"Poor darling!" she said. "I don't mind if you finish that sentence correctly. 'Even if he does want to toss little Mary out on her ear.' D'ye think I care what he thinks of me, as long as you think I'm kind of nice?"

It was an hour later that they hunted me up, but I good-naturedly shooed them back to their own suite again.

"Don't waste precious time trying to be polite to me," I adjured them. "You have so little time together; make the most of it. I'm extremely comfortable. I'm taking a rest cure, my first opportunity in months, and I can't be bothered with incurable romanticists like yourselves.

"You're the one who's the incurable romanticist, you darling," Mary said fondly. "If you see two hearts lying around loose, you simply have to set them beating as one."

Late in the afternoon the hotel operator called me.

"Mr. Cholmondeley Welles, calling," she said, and the next instant Dicky's imitation of an Oxford accent came to my ears.

"May I trouble you to give a message to your husband when you next see him?" he asked.

"Of course, gladly." I told him "Shall I take it down, or is it short enough to remember?"

"It's very short," he said. "Simply tell him that I was able to find the man he wished to see, and that everything is arranged according to our former interview."

Watchfulness Keeps Figure Slender

By MME. QUI VIVE.

Trimming down the over-developed silhouette is no easy job. You have to keep your fingers crossed when the chocolate cake is passed, and it is strange how often and unexpectedly it appears when a woman is on the diet wagon. Will power must be strong, patience endless, self indulgence overcome.

Her difficulties are not completely overcome. She belongs to the class that collects adipose tissues as a small boy collects junk. Unless she minds her eating habits and gives her muscles a daily workout the tape measure is going to make some of those old-time disturbing reports.

During the dieting period she has trained her appetite to accept certain food elements that do not add to tonnage. She must not indulge herself now and then in forbidden viands. "Just this one cookie won't do a bit of harm." Like the drinks of a toper, one cookie calls for another. She gets back her taste for sweets and shortly afterward must start the old war all over again.

After reducing, the weight must be watched carefully. Pounds and ounces creep along like a thief in the night. An extra pat of butter now and then, a bowl of warm cereal with sugar and cream and the upholstery begins to appear.

Unbuttered toast or rusk is better than bread and butter. Tea and coffee should be taken clear: you'll like it that way after a time. Vegetables that grow above ground are safer than those that grow below, like potatoes and beets.

Stop eating before the appetite is thoroughly satisfied. If hungry during the day take a cracker instead of dipping into the bonbon box. Drink buttermilk and unsweetened lemonade. Eat plenty of green salads; they're filling but won't fill out the figure.

Vegetables should be cooked with their skins on and should be cooked whole rather than in slices. Cook them quickly and in a minimum of water. Water draws from vegetables a great deal of its food value and this food often goes down the drain.

Happy Finds To Enhance Your Table

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

This grab bag is just waiting for you to dip in and pull out a recipe that appeals to you. As it is a grab bag, we can pull out a dessert instead of an appetizer for the first item.

Heavenly dessert, aptly named, calls for six egg whites, grated lemon and orange peel, one-half pint sweet cream, whipped cream, cup of sugar, fresh or canned strawberries or other crushed fruits. Beat egg whites until stiff. Add the cup of sugar slowly, and then the grated orange and lemon peel. Bake in a moderate oven until when lightly touched with the finger the top springs back. Crush the berries or fruit and pour over each portion, topping with whipped cream.

Cranberry Candy.

It is always lots of fun to make candies. While cranberries are yet with us, use the rosy fruit for an unusual sweetmeat. Candied cranberries call for one cup each cranberries and sugar, one clove and one cup water. Prick firm cranberries with a needle. Boil sugar and water until syrup spins a thread—230° F. Add cranberries, and cook very gently until syrup jells. Dry berries on waxed paper. Roll in sugar. Candied orange, grapefruit or lemon peel is done in the same type of syrup. Save the fruit skins and boil them in water to which a little soda has been added. With a teaspoon scoop out the fiber. Cut the peel with scissors into delicate strips and drop into the syrup until it candies. Dry on wax paper and roll in sugar to separate the pieces.

Coconut Crispies.

Coconut crispies add a sweet note to tea parties and are nice for a snack refreshment. The recipe calls for one-half cup shortening, one cup white sugar, one egg, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon baking powder, one and three-quarters cups flour, one cup coconut, one teaspoon vanilla and one-half teaspoon cinnamon. Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg and mix well. Add vanilla and sifted dry ingredients. Fold in the coconut. Roll into rolls about two inches in diameter. Place in cold place for three hours or overnight. Then cut in thin slices and bake in greased baking sheet in 375° F. oven for about 10 minutes.

We'll take a last dip and give a swell hurry-up dish that hits the spot. Sausage and baked beans casserole is its name and it is made with one can each tomato soup and baked beans, one pound pork sausages and 10 whole cloves. Mix beans and soup thoroughly and pour into casserole. Dot the cloves thoroughly through the mixture, lay the sausages on top and bake in hot oven until sausages are done. The entire process can be hastened by warming the beans and soup mixture on top of the stove and parboiling the sausages before putting all the ingredients into the casserole for 10 minutes of baking.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

BACKING IN LATER

PASSING ON YOUR first turn to overcall and then backing into the bidding later tells your opponents the same thing you tell your partner—that you have a weak hand and are mainly trying to interfere with their affairs.

It is likely to get you doubled on a hand which would not be doubled if you had come into the bidding at your earliest opportunity. If you have really quite a formidable array of offensive strength, you may pick up some extra points by postponing your entry into the fray.

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

At all tables of a six-table ruplicate, bidding of this deal began with 1-Spade by East. In most cases South now took some definite action. It included an informative double and club calls ranging all the way from two to five. In every case the South players wound up as declarers at contracts of 5-Clubs, some of them doubled and some of them not. Of course the best score from these tables was made on the doubled contracts, since a club game is cold, with the loss of a trick each in hearts and trumps.

The player who made surest of his tie for the top score was one who did nothing but pass on the first round, feeling sure the bidding would be kept open, in view of his shortage in the majors. East's 1-Spade then was answered by West's 2-Hearts. East bid 2-Spades, then South came in at 3-Clubs. West bid 3-Spades, East 4-Spades, South 5-Clubs and East doubled. North's two queens and ten-spot were all South needed to make his contract easily.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

What is South's soundest response to North's 1-Diamond on this deal?

To flatten cookies, use the broad side of a knife which has been dipped in cold water.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, January 21

Exciting and turbulent events may be looked for, judging by the very lively operations of the actuating planets, which work with whirlwind precipitancy. There may be sudden disruption and upheaval, seemingly of devastating and disintegrating force, but eventually this portent may rebound to very positive benefit, with gain in unexpected channels. The outcome depends upon descreet action, sound judgment and clever choice of which road to travel. Romance and adventure, elders and females, have significance.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of much turmoil and upheaval, with a devastating trend of events, which while seemingly at first perilous and disintegrating, in the end may swerve to lucrative, happy and gratifying denouements. All depends upon calm action, good judgment and discretion. Drama, romance, adventure loom.

A child born on this day will be talented, studious, ingenious and inventive, creative in novel or unique avenues, possibly leading to great heights of achievements and public acclaim, although all may not be plain sailing on the way.

If you are getting your vegetable garden ready for next spring use a fairly large box about four inches deep. Cover seeds after planting with dry moss or sprinkle lightly with fine dirt or sand.

The Rinso your grocer now has is the New 1940 Rinso

if you don't find that New 1940 Rinso justifies every claim we make for it . . .

● The sensational New 1940 Rinso is at grocers everywhere—a year earlier than we thought we could give it to you. It contains a new "suds-booster"—an ingredient that a few years ago was so expensive we couldn't add it to Rinso without increasing Rinso's price. At that time we predicted we'd be able to give you the New Rinso in 1940. Today, the cost of this amazing ingredient has been so reduced that we've been able to add it to New Rinso—at no extra cost to you!

So sure are we that you'll be thrilled with the New Rinso that we make this offer: Buy a box of Rinso. Try it. If you don't find that it justifies every claim we make for it, write to Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass., stating briefly your reasons and the price you paid for your package. Send your name and address and the top of the box of Rinso. You will receive back twice what you paid for Rinso. Offer limited to one box to a family.

Offer Expires February 3, 1939
